

CONFESSION CLEARS N. D. ROBBERIES?

CITY'S ANNUAL BUDGET PLACED AT $98,313.00

Reduction of $23,602.00 Effected Chiefly by Reduction in Water Works

COMBINATION MADE City to Employ Full Time Auditor, Assessor and Water Works Officer Combined

The city annual budget ordinance was introduced by Finance Commissioner Larson at the city commission meeting last night. It will remain under consideration for two weeks before final action is taken. The ordinance probably will be changed in some respects, it was said by members of the city commission, although various details are understood to have been pretty well considered informally.

The budget provides for a total levy for all purposes for running the city for one year, beginning September 1, of $98,313.00. The same levy last year was $121,915.00. The reduction of $23,602.00 in the city expense for the year was caused chiefly by the fact that it was not necessary for the city to levy $22,000 again to meet securities issued for the water plant, this expense being taken care of by revenues.

The commission made one considerable change in the method of administration. It provided for a full-time auditor, who shall also handle the finances of the municipal water plant and be city assessor. This change embraced in part recommendations made by Commissioner H. A. Thompson as commissioner in charge of water and sewers, who urged this change in a report, the hiring of an engineer on a salary who should also be superintendent of the water plant and discontinuance of the five percent system of meeting engineering expense. No change was made in the latter system. The position of street commissioner remains.

There is an increase in expense for lighting, more are lights being provided, and expense included for making new connections because the Hughes Electric Company will re-

G. O. P. COLLEGE CLUBS PLANNED

Will Be Organized in North Dakota, Announced

Coolidge and Dawes clubs will be organized in the institutions of higher education in North Dakota, according to James K. Pollock, representative of the Republican national committee, who has been in the state for the last few days. Among those where clubs known as Republican clubs but designed especially to further the candidacy of President Coolidge and Charles G. Dawes, will be formed are the Agricultural College, University of North Dakota, Jamestown College, normal schools at Minot and Valley City.

The situation looks pretty good for Coolidge," Mr. Pollock declared after traveling in the state and interviewing many citizens. "I have found business men, members of organized labor, farmers, in fact, men in all classes, for Coolidge."

There is, he asserted, a decided swing toward Coolidge in the Northwest. He noticed it particularly in Minnesota, he declared, and said that it is noticeable in North Dakota and is increasing.

DAVIS HITS AT G.O.P. TARIFF

Candidate, Speaking in Missouri, Assails Republican Party

Eastwood Farm, Buncheon, Minn., Sept. 16.—(By the A. P.)—Miss W. Davis, Democratic candidate for President, spent today resting at the farm home of Dr. Arthur W. Nelson, Democratic nominee for Governor of Missouri, and working on the address he will deliver at Des Moines Wednesday night. Yesterday Mr. Davis opened the campaign in Missouri with the address here in which he assailed the Republican party "special privilege" and the Fordney-McCumber tariff act, and promised that if elected he would furnish a government "honest through and through" from top to bottom.

Tariff and taxation, it is understood, will form the subject of the Des Moines address.

Canadian wheat crop is about 40 per cent smaller than last year's yield.

FIFTY-FIVE BELIEVED BURNED IN MINE BLAST

Kemmerer, Wyo., Sept. 16.—Fifty-five men engaged in repair work in Mine No. 5 of the Kemmerer Coal Company at Sublet, Wyoming, seven miles north of here, were entombed by an explosion at 11:45 o'clock today, according to word received here by company officials.

Smoke was pouring out in great volume at 1:30 this afternoon. Rescue crews are unable to penetrate the property. Mining officials believe all killed.

FAIR AMOUNT GRAIN CORN IN THIS SECTION

Southern Part of the State Suffers Only Spotted Frost Damage

Frost damage to corn and late flax and a general delay of harvest and threshing throughout the state by the rains that set in September 10th, are noted in the mid-month crop notes issued by J. G. Diamond, federal agricultural statistician who has issued the following summary for North Dakota covering the period September 1 to 15th.

The first week of September was fair and cool with night frosts that were damaging to corn and late flax especially in the northern half of the state. General rains during the second week have definitely checked harvest and threshing operations for several days.

Wheat harvest is now mostly completed with threshing well under way in the eastern half of the state and about to get a general start in the western districts. All harvest work, however, is still delayed by the rains of last week, which found considerable wheat still in shock. Some damage to wheat in stock and to standing grain by heavy winds in the northwestern counties is noted in some reports from that area. Elsewhere harvest comments continue very favorable both as to yields and quality which for the state are now generally considered the best in several years.

Most of the corn crop in the northern half of the state was caught by the frosts of the last night of August and first week of September which have reduced the prospect for matured corn in this area to a relatively small percentage. Corn in the southern half of the state will also show a spotted frost damage but will have a fair amount of grain corn.

Early flax is now mostly harvested and a fair amount has already been threshed. There is considerable shock and also a large amount of late flax still uncut. The late crop is now expected to show a general spotted frost damage and particularly in the northern districts where it was in many cases quite green.

There have been a few fields of potatoes dug to date but harvest of this crop is a full two weeks late on average. Frosts during the first week of September have killed off vines in many cases which were still green and growing and have probably reduced the prospect somewhat. Reports as to yields of the fields now at harvest are not as favorable as were expected. Quality, however, will probably average much better than a year ago.

The recent rains while delaying farm work generally, were needed in many sections for fall plowing and seeding which work has been somewhat backward as a result of the dry weather during the last week of August and first week of September. Pastures were also helped by the rains.

J. G. DIAMOND, Agricultural Statistician.

FIRE DESTROYS PARK RIVER MILL, ELEVATOR

Grand Forks, Sept. 16.—Park River mill and elevator was totally destroyed by fire early this morning. Loss is estimated at $80,000. Cause of the blaze is unknown.

LAFOLLETTE TO START TOUR

Likely to Make Many Speeches, Beginning Oct. 1

Washington, Sept. 16.—Although the speech-making plans of Senator LaFollette for the campaign have not been disclosed, even in tentative form, aside from his engagement to deliver an address in Madison Square Garden, New York City, Thursday night his friends here now expect him to start out on an extended stump tour by October 1.

After his New York speech, the Senator intends to remain in the metropolitan area for several days to discuss the political situation. On his return to Washington he is expected to announce when and where he will speak during the remainder of the campaign.

MILL BOARD MEETS
Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 16.—The regular meeting of the board of managers of the state mill and elevator was opened this afternoon. Attorney General George Shafer is in Grand Forks, presumably in connection with the board meeting.

Algerian wheat crop is but little more than half its last year's production.

FROST VISITS TWO POINTS

Fargo, Sept. 16.—Jamestown and Dunn Center, North Dakota, both were visited by frost last night, according to weather reports received here. The frost at Jamestown, it is thought, ranged from heavy to killing while that at Dunn Center was likely light to heavy.

CLEMENCY FOR YOUNG SLAYER IS PETITIONED

Leopold, Loeb Verdict Affects Plea to Save Life of Illinois Youth

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Shortly before Bernard Grant, sentenced to hang on October 17 for murder, signed a petition to Governor Small pleading for clemency, his attorney, Thomas E. Swanson, received a telegram today from Dr. Agnes Lewis of St. Cloud, Minnesota, stating that citizens of St. Cloud would petition the Illinois Governor to spare Grant's life.

The movement to save Grant's life was started after Judge John R. Caverly spared the lives of Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb, rich men's sons, and sentenced them to life imprisonment for the murder of Robert Frank.

The petition, which Grant's lawyer will mail to the Governor, probably tomorrow, will not be simply a sentimental appeal based upon the action in the Leopold-Loeb case, but the attorneys said he would cite the facts in the case that Walter Cramer, under a death sentence with Grant for the murder of Ralph Souders, a policeman, had repudiated his first statement implicating Grant and now states that Grant had nothing to do with the holding up of a tea and coffee store in which Souders was killed.

Grant claims he was 19 years old when the crime was committed—the same age as Leopold and Loeb. Cramer also asserts he was only 19. Grant's appeal to the supreme court was refused, and his only hope for escape from the gallows is in the Governor's hands. Cramer has an appeal pending before the supreme court.

Grant was reared in the district near the stockyards. It is not charged that he fired the fatal shot but he was alleged to have participated. Cramer now says that Grant had nothing to do with it.

FIERCE BATTLE BEING WAGED FOR SHANGHAI

Reported That Peking Government Has Sent Reinforcements to Defendants

FIGHT IN MUD, WATER Also Reported That Manchurian and Peking Troops Clash to the North

Shanghai, China, Sept. 16.—Reinforcements from the Peking government to be thrown into battle against the Chekiang forces defending Shanghai were reported 85 miles west of here at 11:45 p. m. last Sunday, according to a messenger from the Kiangsu front who returned here today.

The troops, 3,000 in number, were well armed and equipped and were moving toward the Shanghai front in two special trains on the Shanghai-Nanking Railway, the messenger said.

Wounded Kiangsu troops returning from the Lihuo front, where a fierce battle was in progress today for possession of territory adjacent to Woo Sung, outer anchorage of Shanghai, told Dr. F. A. Wilmott, attached to the Kiangsu army medical corps at Quinsan, that "we have been fighting waste deep in water through torrential downpours."

The Chekiang troops are most stubborn opponents and have been employing grenades and land mines with destructive effect.

The Kiangsu wounded were moved to Quinsan in a special train. The American Red Cross corps from Nanking is assisting in care of wounded behind the Kiangsu lines.

NORTHERN CLASH REPORTED

Peking, Sept. 16.—Reports were received here today that Chihli and Manchurian troops had clashed at Chaoyang, in northern Chihli, about 20 miles in an air line from the border of Manchuria. No official confirmation of the report has been forthcoming.

Representatives of the British and American governments today officially informed the Chinese government that they could not accept the blanket prohibition of travel of their nationals in the provinces of Kiangsu, Chekiang, Anhwei and Kiangsi.

The diplomats stated that they were entirely willing to recognize the right to the Chinese government to bar foreigners from zones where the fighting actually was going on, but that they were unwilling to assume responsibility for extending the prohibition to other parts of the belligerent provinces.

Recruiting announced to be for the transport service in the coming hostilities to the Northward was proceeding today. Military officials also were commandeering carts, horses, mules and camels, giving in exchange official receipts which constituted promises to pay if the property taken in each case should not be returned.

FIGHT IN DARKNESS

Shanghai, China, Sept. 16.—(10:30 p. m.)—Darkness failed to stop the fighting on the "eastern end" battle front in the vicinity of Shanghai to night. The offensive of the Kiangsu army seeking to capture the city, continued.

TRAVELERS HELD

Tientsin, China, Sept. 16.—Travelers from Urga, seat of the Mongolian government, arriving here today, declared that as a result of political upheavals there, a dozen foreign residents—Americans, British and Danish—are not permitted to leave the city.

The travelers also declared that Premier Danzan of Mongolia had been shot by order of the Mongol Soviet, members of which are alleged to be plotting with the central Chinese government at Peking for the return of Mongolia to China.

RENEW DRIVE

Shanghai, China, Sept. 16.—The Kiangsu army today opened a renewed and determined offensive near Lihuo on the Yangtze river west of this city, in an effort to reach the Wusong forces, according to a report issued by the Lungwha headquarters of the Chekiang army.

Simultaneously attacks were launched by Kiangsu at Kiating and along the railroads. Bombardments are progressing along the entire line and the casualties continue to mount. The battle lines were apparently unchanged by the renewed fighting. The weather remains clear. In the foreign settlements in Shanghai, everything remains quiet.

FAIR TO FEATURE DAIRYING

Beach, N. D., Sept. 16.—The annual Golden county fair to be held in Beach on Oct. 2, 3, 4, will feature the dairy industry products and officers have announced many special prizes to winners of butter, poultry, dairy, livestock, cheese and other similar exhibits. Eastern Montana farmers will also be exhibitors.

DEFINITE END TO MILL TRIAL IS ADVOCATED

Halvor Halvorsen, in Opening Campaign, Proposes to Try it Two Years More

AGAINST EXPANSION Would Not Increase Industrial Program in North Dakota, He Declares

Devils Lake, N. D., Sept. 16.—Declaring that the chief issue before the voters of the state and nation in the present campaign is that of orderly constitutional government versus radicalism, Halvor Halvorsen of Minot, Independent fusion candidate for governor of North Dakota struck the keynote of the principles on which he asked election in his opening campaign address here last night.

Mr. Halvorsen has given since his endorsements as a fusion candidate by the Real Republican and Democrats at Bismarck last week.

Hyland Pledge Republican and present lieutenant governor of the state, at the close of Mr. Halvorsen's address, arose and, in a short speech full of fire, declared that he was heart and soul for Coolidge and Dawes for president and vice-president, but was equally enthusiastic in his support of Mr. Halvorsen for governor of North Dakota.

The same spirit of co-operation was shown in Mr. Halvorsen's address. The speaker took occasion to pay a tribute to the work which has been done by the Nestos administration to untangle the snarl in which the state's finances were left by the Nonpartisan league administration, and was especially vehement in urging the re-election of George Shafer for governor, declaring that Mr. Shafer was one of the most honest and capable officials who had ever occupied that position.

LaFollette Denounced
In opening his address Mr. Halvorsen delivered a strong denunciation of the principles advocated by Robert LaFollette, and his followers. Calling attention to the fact that this was "constitutional week" he pointed out that the constitution of the United States, designed to preserve to its citizens their lives, liberty and pursuit of happiness, had divided the government into three equal departments, executive, legislative and judicial.

"This trilogy of government," he said "is the cornerstone of democracy. Never before has any faction party come out with a demand for a departure from these fundamental principles. This year there is such a party. Its leader says that congress should have a veto power over the decisions of the supreme court."

"Surely no thinking man or woman can believe that to give congress such veto power over the decisions of a court on justice would further the cause of justice. The situation would be similar to that which has only recently arisen in our own state in connection with the supreme court's decision on the proposed initiation of the law to bond the state. A movement to recall three judges of the supreme court arose within a few hours of that decision. Why? Because one of the litigants was dissatisfied with the decision."

"I have no apology to make for the fusion of the Democrats with the Real Republicans of North Dakota for the state campaign," declared Mr. Halvorsen, taking up the state issues. "When the foundations on which our government rests are challenged it is time for all law loving men to stand together."

"In the present campaign the league leaders are not satisfied with the demands of the original league program; they want to expand it and take over the coal mines and elevators throughout the state. This means the issuance of new bonds, of course it does. The league chiefs have learned a lesson. State bonds sell better than do post dated checks, and they want the power to issue these bonds."

Mr. Halvorsen entered into an extended analysis of the problems confronting the state in connection with the operation of the state mill and elevator at Grand Forks, citing among other things the trend of the milling industry towards Buffalo, N. Y., on account of the advantage which could be obtained in that location in the matter of rail rates, etc., and the flow of cheaper soft spring wheats which could not be obtained for the state plant. These conditions, he pointed out, made the operation of the state mill at a profit a very difficult problem. On the other hand he made it plain that the fixed interest charges of the investment of the big plant would continue whether the plant were operating or not.

For Continuing Mill Test
"Turn the key in the door, and you will still have $1,000 per day of interest to meet," he said. "What we propose is this. If during the next two years the mill does not make a better showing than it has up to date, let the question of the continuation of the experiment be submitted."

WORLD FIERS WAIT FOR DAY

U. S. Air Mail Field, Maywood, Ill., Sept. 16.—The 445-mile hop to Omaha, the next stage of the flight for the round the world fliers, was postponed until 8 a. m. central standard time, tomorrow, when, at 11:51 a. m. today, Lieut. Lowell Smith, commanding, decided the weather conditions were too inclement to continue today.

"We are all mighty disappointed," Lieut. Smith said, "but we would rather be disappointed than sorry. Despite reports of fair weather west the area immediately surrounding Chicago is too foggy to try and fly through it. We dislike to have a forced landing even in good weather but more so in this kind."

A ground fog, which blanketed this section of the Chicago territory from the first light of today, together with chilly misty atmosphere and a murkiness that made it very heavy refused to be dispelled. When noon hour approached and conditions were still unsatisfactory, Lieut. Smith decided it was useless to wait longer.

The flight commander said his principal concern was for the safety of his ship and companions and neither did he want to fly in doing so in hazy atmosphere it would dispirit the thousands of people en route, who were waiting to have a look at them.

"We got the ships this far, and we certainly want to get them to the end of the route," Lieut. Smith said. "Neither because of poor visibility do we want to disappoint any of the folks along the line. This foggy condition seems to hang low and in poor weather safety lies in sight."

WORLD FIERS WAIT FOR DAY

The supreme court has reversed the verdict for the plaintiff, in the case in which Donald McLeod was awarded $2,000 by a Cass county jury against Joseph Simon, Wheatland storekeeper, and the Consumers Home Oil Company of South Dakota, for damages caused by fire alleged to have been caused by the use of a mixture of gasoline and kerosene sold to McLeod by Simon for illuminating purposes. The court's decision was based upon improper action by the court.

Simon had two tanks, one for gasoline and one for oil, in connection with his store at Wheatland. McLeod alleged that both Simon and the oil company were responsible for the addition of kerosene to the gasoline tank, from which a mixture was drawn and sold as illuminating liquid. The state oil inspector examined oil from the tank and found it not to comply with requirements for illuminating gas. The evidence showed, according to the court record. The case will be tried again.

Selfridge, N. D., Sept. 16.—The 3 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Schwartz of this place, is in a critical condition as the result of drinking a mixture of lye.

ESKIMO FLAPPERS DESCRIBED BY CAPT. MACMILLAN, HOME FROM ARCTICS

Don't Bob Hair, But They Like to Smoke, and Are Coquetish, the Explorer Finds—Tells of White Indians and Amusement of Eskimos at Motion Pictures

Sydney, Nova Scotia, Sept. 16.—(By the A. P.)—Capt. Donald Baxter MacMillan, explorer, who has brought his vessel, the Bowdoin, to anchor in this port after fifteen months in Northern Greenland and Ellesmere Land, today told of Eskimo flappers and white Indians, the amusement of Eskimos at motion pictures and other things in the Arctic.

"The Eskimo flappers haven't bobbed their hair yet, but they like to smoke cigarettes," MacMillan said. "They used to have trouble finding enough girls to go around, but this year, for some reason, there is a small surplus and a number of unmarried young women—a very unusual condition among the Polar Eskimos."

DAWES TAKES PLACE IN BIG LEGION PARADE

Candidate for Vice-President Attends Convention as "Legionnaire Dawes"

BOOM GEN. PERSHING Many Would Make Him National Commander of the American Legion

St. Paul, Sept. 16.—Dividing interest with the annual parade of the American Legion today was the visit of General Charles G. Dawes, Republican vice-presidential candidate, who came "solely as a Legionnaire" to visit the Legion national convention.

Despite the insistence of the General and of Legion officials that the General came as "Legionnaire Dawes" of the Evanston, Illinois, Post, his visit attracted much interest. He declared upon his arrival today that he would march in the parade with the Evanston Post.

Business session activities this morning included addresses by Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific Railway; Albert D. Alcorn, commander-in-chief of the Spanish-War Veterans and John J. Tigert, United States Commissioner of Education.

Mr. Donnelly held up the proposal for government operation of railroads as an effort to establish a bureaucracy and characterized the issue as "a live one, potentially serious."

Mr. Alcorn brought greetings from the Spanish War Veterans while Commissioner Tigert praised the American Legion for its success in promoting educational and patriotic work and said he hoped "we will never abandon a sane program for a better understanding of American institutions, ideals, history and government."

Politics came to the fore sharply with a well defined boom for General Pershing to succeed John R. Quinn of California as national commander. Legionnaires boosting him were reported telegraphing "feelers" to the commander of the A. E. F. in an effort to ascertain his attitude.

MRS. C. B. NORTON OF McKENZIE SUCCEUMS AT FARM HOME

Mrs. Phoebe Norton died last night at her farm home near McKenzie, as a result of a paralytic stroke suffered some time ago. Mrs. Norton, who was 69 years old, is a pioneer resident of Burleigh county, having lived on the farm near McKenzie for about thirty years. Mr. Norton died about eight years ago. They had no children.

Funeral arrangements will not be completed until the arrival of a brother from the east, Frank Leavelle, another brother who has made his home on the Norton farm, is the only other near relative surviving.

BAD OIL CASE IS REVERSED

The supreme court has reversed the verdict for the plaintiff, in the case in which Donald McLeod was awarded $2,000 by a Cass county jury against Joseph Simon, Wheatland storekeeper, and the Consumers Home Oil Company of South Dakota, for damages caused by fire alleged to have been caused by the use of a mixture of gasoline and kerosene sold to McLeod by Simon for illuminating purposes. The case will be tried again.

MANY 'JOBS' IN STATE LAID TO GANG HELD

One of Them Gives Officers Tip on Murderer of Devils Lake Policeman

ALSO SELFIDGE BANK May Have Stolen Bismarck Man's Car—Gang Escaped From Rugby Jail

Confessions have been wrung from some members of a gang of bank robbers, under arrest in South Dakota, that may clear one North Dakota murder and many North Dakota robberies.

One of the yeggs, according to a story in the Aberdeen American-News of Sunday, has promised to tell who shot and killed a policeman in Devils Lake, North Dakota, a few months ago, as soon as he has received his sentence.

Information was given according to the newspaper, about robberies at Ft. Yates and Selfridge, North Dakota, where banks were entered. "Devils Lake Red," under arrest, is declared to have been in the Krem, North Dakota, bank robbery. They are said to have stolen an automobile in Jamestown, probably that of Harry Clogh of Bismarck. Other robberies in North Dakota may be laid to the gang.

Five of the gang are said to be those arrested at Kenmare, North Dakota, and who broke jail at Rugby, North Dakota, while awaiting an officer to bring them to the North Dakota penitentiary to serve five year sentences for burglary.

COOLIDGE BUSY AT HIS DESK

Governmental Business Takes Precedence Over Campaign

Washington, Sept. 16.—Government business held the attention of President Coolidge today with the regular semi-weekly cabinet meeting this morning and later a conference with other government officials. Mr. Coolidge received many callers during the past week and yesterday he was given detailed accounts of the political situation in most sections of the country. On the whole, the reports have been viewed by the White House as exceeding bright, although they were said to have indicated some growing strength for Senator La Follette, independent candidate, in several states.

PIONEER OF COUNTY DIES

Mrs. C. B. Norton of McKenzie Succumbs at Farm Home

Mrs. Phoebe Norton died last night at her farm home near McKenzie, as a result of a paralytic stroke suffered some time ago. Mrs. Norton, who was 69 years old, is a pioneer resident of Burleigh county, having lived on the farm near McKenzie for about thirty years. Mr. Norton died about eight years ago. They had no children.

Funeral arrangements will not be completed until the arrival of a brother from the east, Frank Leavelle, another brother who has made his home on the Norton farm, is the only other near relative surviving.

Only Part of Gang

The paper says the trio is only a part of a gang of eight that made its headquarters in a little shack near Mohrville last winter, engaging in many thefts, one of them an automobile. "Still later," the story goes, "they were arrested for bank robbery at Krem, N. D., three of them escaping jail while awaiting sentence. Before being arrested at Krem they abandoned the Slater car and it was found on May 26 at Minot, N. D."

Ryan gave the most clear confession, the newspaper says, the story reading:

"The proposition was put to him that he could take one of two things. Either plead guilty and receive the minimum, five years, or plead not guilty and get the maximum. He asked for a few hours in which to decide but the authorities were insistent."

Tells Sordid Tale
Then he reconciled himself and settled down to relating a sordid story reeking with criminal misdeeds, including the raiding of many country banks and stores.

He took the beginning of the story back to the little rendezvous near Mohrville where the gang of eight plotted their robberies. He named the five other men who were in the gang as Fred Cline, alias Eau Claire Whitey, alias Whitey Cline, alias Al Superior Whitey, whose real name is said to be William Roder; John Linden, alias Devils Lake Red, who has served terms at Stillwater and Bismarck; Dan Morris, George Arnold, alias Shankey, Herman Richman, alias Rich.

All five men are well known by authorities all over the country. Cline is known generally as Whitey Cline. At the time of the Slater car theft he was an old timer and an expert "soul man," having played part in robberies at Lebanon, Okla.; Ft. Yates, Selfridge and Lader, B. C. The latter was his biggest job. He got $135,000 on this job. Devils Lake Red was in the Krem, N. D. bank robbery and several others and he is now in jail at Stanton, N. D., on a burglary charge.

Slater Car at Jamestown
Then, the story says, the men engaged in attempted bank robberies in South Dakota and failed. The gang split up at the Little shack near a mixture of lye.

THE BISMARCK TRIBUNE

CONFESION CLEARS N. D. ROBBERIES?

CITY'S ANNUAL BUDGET PLACED AT $98,313.00

Reduction of $23,602.00 Effected Chiefly by Reduction in Water Works

COMBINATION MADE

City to Employ Full Time Auditor, Assessor and Water Works Officer Combined

The city annual budget ordinance was introduced by Finance Commissioner Larson at the city commission meeting last night. It will remain under consideration for two weeks before final action is taken. The ordinance probably will be changed in some respects, it was said by members of the city commission, although various details are understood to have been pretty well considered informally.

The budget provides for a total levy for all purposes for running the city for one year, beginning September 1, of $98,313.00. The same levy last year was $121,915.00. The reduction of $23,602.00 in the city expense for the year was caused chiefly by the fact that it was not necessary for the city to levy $22,000 again to meet securities issued for the water plant, this expense being taken care of by revenues.

The commission made one considerable change in the method of administration. It provided for a full-time auditor, who shall also handle the finances of the municipal water plant and be city assessor. This change embraced in part recommendations made by Commissioner H. A. Thompson as commissioner. No change was made in the latter system. The position of street commissioner remains.

G. O. P. COLLEGE CLUBS PLANNED

Will Be Organized in North Dakota, Announced

Coolidge and Dawes clubs will be organized in the institutions of higher education in North Dakota, according to James K. Pollock, representative of the Republican national committee, who has been in the state for the last few days. Among those where clubs known as Republican clubs but designed especially to further the candidacy of President Coolidge and Charles G. Dawes, will be formed are the Agricultural College, University of North Dakota, Jamestown College, normal schools at Minot and Valley City.

"The situation looks pretty good for Coolidge," Mr. Pollock declared after traveling in the state and interviewing many citizens. "I have found business men, members of organized labor, farmers, in fact, men in all classes, for Coolidge." There is, he asserted, a decided swing toward Coolidge in the Northwest. He noticed it particularly in Minnesota, he declared, and said that it is noticeable in North Dakota and is increasing.

DAVIS HITS AT G.O.P. TARIFF

Candidate, Speaking in Missouri, Assails Republican Party

Eastwood Farm, Buncheon, Missouri, Sept. 16.—(By the A. P.)—John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for President, spent today resting at the farm home of Dr. Arthur W. Nelson, Democratic nominee for Governor of Missouri, and working on the address he will deliver at Des Moines Wednesday night. Yesterday Mr. Davis opened the campaign in Missouri with the address here in which he assailed the Republican party "special privilege" and the Fordney-McCumber tariff act, and promised that if elected he would furnish a government "honest through and through" from top to bottom.

Tariff and taxation, it is understood, will form the subject of the Des Moines address.

Canadian wheat crop is about 40 per cent smaller than last year's yield.

FIFTY-FIVE BELIEVED BURNED IN MINE BLAST

Kemmerer, Wyo., Sept. 16.—Fifty-five men engaged in repair work in Mine No. 5 of the Kemmerer Coal Company at Sublet, Wyoming, seven miles north of here, were entombed by an explosion at 11:45 o'clock today, according to word received here by company officials.

Smoke was pouring out in great volume at 1:30 this afternoon. Rescue crews are unable to penetrate the property. Mining officials believe all killed.

FAIR AMOUNT GRAIN CORN IN THIS SECTION

Southern Part of the State Suffers Only Spotted Frost Damage

Frost damage to corn and late flax and a general delay of harvest and threshing throughout the state by the rains that set in September 10th, are noted in the mid-month crop notes issued by J. G. Diamond, federal agricultural statistician who has issued the following summary for North Dakota covering the period September 1 to 15th.

The first week of September was fair and cool with night frosts that were damaging to corn and late flax especially in the northern half of the state. General rains during the second week have definitely checked harvest and threshing operations for several days.

Wheat harvest is now mostly completed with threshing well under way in the eastern half of the state and about to get a general start in the western districts. All harvest work, however, is still delayed by the rains of last week, which found considerable wheat still in shock.

Some damage to wheat in stock and to standing grain by heavy winds in the northwestern counties is noted in some reports from that area. Elsewhere harvest comments continue very favorable both as to yields and quality which for the state are generally considered the best in several years.

Most of the corn crop in the northern half of the state was caught by the frosts of the last night of August and first week of September which have reduced the prospect for matured corn in this area to a relatively small percentage. Corn in the southern half of the state will also show a spotted frost damage but will have a fair amount of grain corn.

Early flax is now mostly harvested and a fair amount has already been threshed. The standing flax in shock and also a large amount of late flax still uncut. The late crop is now expected to show a general spotted frost damage and particularly in the northern districts where it was in many cases quite green.

There are few fields of potatoes due to date but harvest of this crop is a full two weeks later than average. Frosts during the first week of September have killed off vines in many cases which were still green and growing and have probably reduced the prospect somewhat. Reports as to yields of the fields now at harvest are not as favorable as were expected. Quality, however, will probably average much better than a year ago.

The recent rains while delaying farm work generally, were needed in many sections for fall plowing and seeding which work has been somewhat backward as a result of the dry weather during the last week of August and first week of September. Pastures were also helped by the rains.

Weather Report

For 24 hours ending at noon:
Temperature at 7 a. m. 41
Highest yesterday 70
Lowest yesterday 38
Lowest last night 41
Precipitation 0
Highest wind velocity 8

WEATHER FORECASTS

For Bismarck and vicinity: Fair tonight and Wednesday. Somewhat warmer tonight.

For North Dakota: Fair tonight and Wednesday. Somewhat warmer tonight, west portion.

General Weather Conditions
The pressure map has not changed materially since yesterday morning. It is still high over the Great Lakes region and low in the extreme West and extreme South. Precipitation occurred in Iowa, Missouri and Illinois while elsewhere over the West the weather is generally fair. Seasonable temperatures prevail in all sections. Only a few places in North Dakota reported light frost while none of the Canadian stations reported frost.

Fire Department Called

The fire department was called to the home of Charles Wright, 507 Fifteenth street, about 8:30 o'clock last night. A short circuit in electric wiring caused a fire scare. There was no damage, the department reported.

FROST VISITS TWO POINTS

Fargo, Sept. 16.—Jamestown and Dunn Center, North Dakota, both were visited by frost last night, according to weather reports received here. The frost at Jamestown, it is thought, ranged from heavy to killing while that at Dunn Center was likely light to heavy.

CLEMENCY FOR YOUNG SLAYER IS PETITIONED

Leopold, Loeb Verdict Affects Plea to Save Life of Illinois Youth

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Shortly before Bernard Grant, sentenced to hang on October 17 for murder, signed a petition to Governor Small pleading for clemency, his attorney, Thomas E. Swanson, received a telegram today from Dr. Agnes Lewis of St. Cloud, Minnesota, stating that citizens of St. Cloud would petition the Illinois Governor to spare Grant's life.

The movement to save Grant's life was started after Judge John R. Caverly spared the lives of Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb, rich men's sons, and sentenced them to life imprisonment for the murder of Robert Grant.

The petition, which Grant's lawyer, Thomas E. Swanson, probably will not be signed, is a sentimental appeal based upon the action in the Leopold-Loeb case, but the attorneys said he would cite the facts in the case that Walter Grauer, under a death sentence with Grant for the murder of Ralph Souders, a Chicagoan, had repudiated his first statement implicating Grant, and now states that Grant had nothing to do with the holding up of a tea and coffee store in which Souders was killed.

Grant claimed he was 19 years old when the crime was committed—the same age as Leopold and Loeb. Grauer also asserts he was only 19. Grant's appeal to the supreme court was refused, and his only hope for escape from the gallows is in the Governor's hands. Grauer has an appeal pending before the supreme court.

Grant was reared in the district near the stockyards. It is not charged that he fired the fatal shot but he was alleged to have participated. Grauer now says that Grant had nothing to do with it.

FIRE DESTROYS PARK RIVER MILL, ELEVATOR

Grand Forks, Sept. 16.—Park River mill and elevator was totally destroyed by fire early this morning. Loss is estimated at $80,000. Cause of the blaze is unknown.

LAFOLLETTE TO START TOUR

Likely to Make Many Speeches, Beginning Oct. 1

Washington, Sept. 16.—Although the speech-making plans of Senator LaFollette for the campaign have not been disclosed, even in tentative form, aside from his engagement to deliver an address in Madison Square Garden, New York City, Thursday night, his friends here now expect him to start out on an extended stump tour by October 1.

After his New York speech, the Senator is expected to remain in the metropolis several days to discuss the political situation. On his return to Washington he is expected to announce when and where he will speak during the remainder of the campaign.

MILL BOARD MEETS

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 16.—The regular meeting of the board of managers of the state mill and elevator was opened this afternoon. Attorney-General George Shafer is in Grand Forks, presumably in connection with the board meeting.

FIERCE BATTLE BEING WAGED FOR SHANGHAI

Reported That Peking Government Has Sent Reinforcements to Defendants

FIGHT IN MUD, WATER

Also Reported That Manchurian and Peking Troops Clash to the North

Shanghai, China, Sept. 16.—Reinforcements from the Peking government to be thrown into battle against the Chekiang forces defending Shanghai were reported 85 miles west of here at 11:45 p. m. last Sunday, according to a messenger from the Kiangsu front who returned here today.

The troops, 3,000 in number, were well armed and equipped and were moving toward the Shanghai front in two special trains on the Shanghai-Nanking Railway, the messenger said.

Wounded Kiangsu troops returning from the Liuhoo front, where a fierce battle was in progress today for possession of territory adjacent to Woo Song, outer anchorage of Shanghai, told Dr. F. A. Wilcott, attached to the Kiangsu army medical corps at Quinsan, that "we have been fighting waste deep in water through torrential downpours."

The Chekiang troops are most stubborn opponents and have been employing grenades and land mines with destructive effect. The Kiangsu wounded were moved to Quinsan in a special train. The American Red Cross corps from Nanking is assisting in care of wounded behind the Kiangsu lines.

NORTHERN CLASH REPORTED

Peking, Sept. 16.—Reports were received here today that Chihlian and Manchurian troops had clashed at Chaoyang, in northern Chihli, about 20 miles in an air line from the border of Manchuria. No official confirmation of the report has been forthcoming.

Representatives of the British and American governments today officially informed the Chinese government that they could not accept the blanket prohibition of travel of their nationals in the provinces of Kiangsu, Chekiang, Anhwei and Kiangsi. The diplomats stated that they were entirely willing to recognize the right to the Chinese government to bar foreigners from zones where the fighting actually was going on, but that they were unwilling to assume responsibility for extending the prohibition to other parts of the belligerent provinces.

Recruiting announced to be for the transport service in the coming hostilities to the Northwest was proceeding today. Military officials also were commandeering carts, horses, mules and camels, giving in exchange official receipts which constituted promises to pay if the property taken in each case should not be returned.

FIGHT IN DARKNESS

Shanghai, China, Sept. 16.—(10:30 p. m.)—Darkness failed to stop the fighting on the "eastern end" battle front in the vicinity of Shanghai tonight. The offensive of the Kiangsu army seeking to capture the city, continued.

TRAVELERS HELD

Tientsin, China, Sept. 16.—Travelers from Urga east of the Mongolian government, arriving here today, declared that as a result of political upheavals there, a dozen foreign residents—Americans, British and Danish—are not permitted to leave the city.

The travelers also declared that Premier Danzan of Mongolia had been shot by order of the Mongol Soviet, members of which are alleged to be plotting with the central Chinese government at Peking for the return of Mongolia to China.

RENEW DRIVE

Shanghai, China, Sept. 16.—The Kiangsu army today opened a renewed and determined offensive near Liuhoo on the Yangtze river west of this city, in an effort to reach the Woosung forces, according to a report issued by the Lungwa headquarters of the Chekiang army.

Simultaneously attacks were launched by Kiangsu at Kiating and along the railroads. Bombardments are progressing along the entire line and the casualties continue to mount. The battle lines were apparently unchanged by the renewed fighting. The weather remains clear. In the foreign settlements in Shanghai, everything remains quiet.

FAIR TO FEATURE DAIRYING

Beach, N. D., Sept. 16.—The annual Golden county fair held in Beach on Oct. 2, 3, 4, will feature the dairy industry products and officers have announced many special prizes to winners of butter, poultry, dairy, livestock, cheese and other similar exhibits. Eastern Montana farmers will also be exhibitors.

Algerian wheat crop is but little more than half its last year's production.

DEFINITE END TO MILL TRIAL IS ADVOCATED

Halvor Halvorson, in Opening Campaign, Proposes to Try it Two Years More

AGAINST EXPANSION

Would Not Increase Industrial Program in North Dakota, He Declares

Devils Lake, N. D., Sept. 16.—Declaring that the chief issue before the voters of the state and nation in the present campaign is that of orderly constitutional government versus radicalism, state industrialism and socialism, Halvor Halvorson of Minot, a fusion candidate for governor of North Dakota, struck the keynote of the principles on which he asked election in his opening campaign address here last night.

This was the first speech which Mr. Halvorson has given since his endorsement as a fusion candidate by the Real Republican and Democrats at Bismarck last week.

Hyland Pledges Support

Frank Hyland, Republican and present lieutenant governor of the state, at the close of Mr. Halvorson's address, arose and, in a short speech full of fire, declared that he was heart and soul for Coolidge and Dawes for president and vice-president, but was equally enthusiastic in his support of Mr. Halvorson for governor of North Dakota.

The same spirit of co-operation was shown in Mr. Halvorson's address. The speaker took occasion to pay a tribute to the work which has been done by the Nestos administration to untangle the snarl in which the state's finances were left by the Nonpartisan league administration, and was especially vehement in urging the re-election of George Shafer as attorney general, declaring that Mr. Shafer was one of the most honest and capable officials who had ever occupied that position.

LaFollette Denounced

In opening his address Mr. Halvorson delivered a strong denunciation of the principles advocated by Robert LaFollette and his followers. Calling attention to the fact that this was "constitutional week" he pointed out that the constitution of the United States, designed to preserve to its citizens their lives, liberty and pursuit of happiness, had divided the government into three equal departments, executive, legislative and judicial.

"This trilogy of government," he said "is the cornerstone of democracy. Never before has any faction or party come out with a demand for a departure from these fundamental principles. This year there is such a party. Its leader says that congress should have a veto power over the decisions of the supreme court."

"Surely no thinking man or woman can believe that to give congress such veto power over the decisions of a court on justice would further the cause of justice. The situation would be similar to that which has only recently arisen in our own state in connection with the supreme court's decision on the proposed initiation of the law to bond the state. A movement to recall three judges of the supreme court arose within a few hours of the decision. Why? Because one of the litigants was dissatisfied with the decisions."

Government Challenged

"I have no apology to make for the fusion of the Democrats with the Real Republicans of North Dakota or the fusion of the fusionists with Mr. Halvorson, taking up the state issues. 'When the foundations on which our government rests are challenged it is time for all law loving men to stand together.'"

In the present campaign the league leaders are not satisfied with the demands of the original league program; they want to expand it and take over the coal mines and elevators throughout the state. This means the issuance of new bonds, of course it does. The league chiefs have learned a lesson. State bonds sell better than do post dated checks, and they want the power to issue those bonds."

Mr. Halvorson entered into an extended analysis of the problems confronting the state in connection with the operation of the state mill and elevator at Grand Forks, citing among other things the trend of the milling industry towards Buffalo, N. Y., on account of the advantage which could be obtained in that location in the matter of rail rates, etc., and the flow of cheaper soft spring wheats which could not be obtained from the state. These conditions, he pointed out, made the operation of the state mill at a profit a very difficult problem. On the other hand he made it plain that the fixed interest charges of the investment of the big plant would be obtained for the mill was operating at a loss.

For Continuing Mill Test
"Turn the key in the door, and you will still have $1,000 per day of interest to meet," he said. "What we propose is this. If during the next two years the mill does not make a better showing than it has up to date, let the question of the continuation of the experiment be decided."

ESKIMO FLAPPERS DESCRIBED BY CAPT. MACMILLAN, HOME FROM ARCTICS

Don't Bob Hair, But They Like to Smoke, and Are Coquettish, the Explorer Finds—Tells of White Indians and Amusement of Eskimos at Motion Pictures

Sydney, Nova Scotia, Sept. 16.—(By the A. P.)—Capt. Donald Baxter MacMillan, explorer, who has brought his vessel, the Bowdoin, to anchor in this port after fifteen months in Northern Greenland and Ellesmere Land, today told of Eskimo flappers and white Indians, the amusement of Eskimos at motion pictures and other things in the Arctic.

"The Eskimo flappers haven't bobbed their hair yet, but they like to smoke cigarettes," MacMillan said. "They used to have trouble finding enough girls to go around, but this year, for some reason, there is a small surplus and a number of unmarried young women—a very unusual condition among the Polar Eskimos."

"About 20,000 feet of motion pictures were shown to the Eskimos, including several reels taken on the voyage of 1917. The natives stood spell-bound on the ship as they saw friends and relatives, some of them long since dead, brought back to life and motion by the white man's magic machine."

Previous indications that glaciers are advancing and not retreating have been confirmed. MacMillan said that he had heard by radio of the discovery of "white Indians" in Panama. They are Albinos, he declared.

"White Eskimos? I've seen lots of them," he added. "They only mean that some other white men had been there ahead of you. They are half-breeds."

The Bowdoin brings back, in addition to much scientific data in the fields of geology, meteorology and ornithology, a great variety of furs, Eskimo canoes, arms, and carved ivory. Despite his recent trip of 15 months and the fact that he has spent the greater part of the past 16 years in the Arctic regions, MacMillan said he would be back at this port next June, outward bound for the Polar Regions.

DAWES TAKES PLACE IN BIG LEGION PARADE

Candidate for Vice-President Attends Convention as "Legionnaire Dawes"

BOOM GEN. PERSHING Many Would Make Him National Commander of the American Legion

St. Paul, Sept. 16.—Dividing interest with the annual parade of the American Legion today was the visit of General Charles G. Dawes, Republican vice-presidential candidate, who came "solely as a Legionnaire" to visit the Legion national convention.

Despite the insistence of the General and of Legion officials that the General came as "Legionnaire Dawes of the Evanston, Illinois, Post," his visit attracted much interest. He declared upon his arrival today that he would march in the parade with the Evanston Post.

Business session activities this morning included an address by Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific Railway; Albert D. Alcorn, commander-in-chief of the Spanish-War Veterans and John J. Tigert, United States Commissioner of Education.

Mr. Donnelly held up the proposal for government operation of railroads as an effort to establish a bureaucracy and characterized the issue as "a live one, potentially serious."

Mr. Alcorn brought greetings from the Spanish War Veterans while Mr. Tigert, president of the American Legion for its success in promoting educational and patriotic work and said he hoped "we will never abandon a sane program for a better understanding of American institutions, ideals, history and government."

Politics came to the fore sharply with a well defined boom for General Pershing to succeed John R. Quinn of California as national commander. Legionnaires boasting him were reported telegraphing "feelers" to the commander of the A. E. F. in an effort to ascertain his attitude.

WORLD FIERS WAIT FOR DAY

U. S. Air Mail Field, Maywood, Ill., Sept. 16.—The 445-mile hop to Omaha, the next stage of the flight for the round the world fliers, was postponed until 8 a. m. central standard time, tomorrow, when, at 11:51 a. m. today, Lieut. Lowell Smith, commanding, decided the weather conditions were too inclement to continue today.

"We are all mighty disappointed," Lieut. Smith said, "but we would rather be disappointed than sorry. Despite reports of fair weather west the area immediately surrounding Chicago is too foggy to try and fly through it. We dislike to have a forced landing even in good weather but more so in this kind."

A ground fog, which blanketed this section of the Chicago territory from the first light of today, together with chilly misty atmosphere and a murkiness that made it very heavy refused to be dispelled. When noon hour approached and conditions were still unsatisfactory, Lieut. Smith decided it was useless to wait longer.

The flight commander said his principal concern was for the safety of his ship and companions and neither did he want to fly in doing so in hazy atmosphere it would disappoint the thousands of people en route, who were waiting to have a look at them.

"We got the ships this far, and we certainly want to get them to the end of the route," Lieut. Smith said. "Neither because of poor visibility do we want to disappoint any of the folks along the line. This foggy condition seems to hang low and in poor weather safety lies in height."

IN CHICAGO ON BUSINESS Governor Nestos is in Chicago on business for the State Industrial Commission, in connection with its finances.

MANY 'JOBS' IN STATE LAID TO GANG HELD

One of Them Gives Officers Tip on Murderer of Devils Lake Policeman

ALSO SELFRIDGE BANK

May Have Stolen Bismarck Man's Car—Gang Escaped From Rugby Jail

Confessions have been wrung from some members of a gang of bank robbers, under arrest in South Dakota, that may clear one North Dakota murder and many North Dakota robberies.

One of the yeggs, according to a story in the Aberdeen American-News of Sunday, has promised to tell who shot and killed a policeman in Devils Lake, North Dakota, a few months ago, as soon as he has received his sentence.

Information was given according to the newspaper, about robberies at Ft. Yates and Selfridge, North Dakota, where banks were entered. "Devils Lake Red," under arrest, is declared to have been in the Krem, North Dakota, bank robbery. They are said to have stolen an automobile in Jamestown, probably that of Harry Clough of Bismarck. Other robberies in North Dakota may be laid to the gang.

Five of the gang are said to be those arrested at Kenmare, North Dakota, and who broke jail at Rugby, North Dakota, while awaiting an officer to bring them to the North Dakota penitentiary to serve five year sentences for burglary.

Three Picked Up

Three men, James Ryan, aged 40, alias "St. Louis Billy"; William Berg, 36, former alleged Minot bootlegger, and Ben Mahowics, 23, alias George Duane, are said to have confessed willingness to enter pleas of guilty to a charge of burglarizing the Greenway, South Dakota, bank some time ago. The acceptance of pleas of guilty was held up for further investigation.

The Aberdeen newspaper says that W. S. Gordon, agent for the South Dakota Bankers Association, said "Friday night that one of the men had promised him that as soon as he got his sentence he would tell who shot and killed a policeman at Devils Lake, N. D. a few weeks ago. The policeman was shot over the left eye and instantly killed when he surprised a gang of men about to make an effort to rob the postoffice there."

The men were arrested at Selby, S. D. on suspicion. They were taken to the Aberdeen jail for questioning. They confessed, according to the newspaper, and "told of a series of bank and store robberies and a career of crime that was romantic in its crudeness."

Only Part Of Gang

The paper says the trio is only a part of a gang of eight that made its headquarters in a little shack near Mobridge last winter, engaging in many thefts, one of them an automobile. "Still later," the story goes, "they were arrested for bank robbery at Krem, N. D., three of them escaping jail while awaiting sentence. Before being arrested at Krem they abandoned the Slater car and it was found on May 26 at Minot, N. D."

Ryan gave the most clear confession, the newspaper says, the story reading:

"The proposition was put to him that he could take one of two things. Either plead guilty and receive the minimum, five years, or plead not guilty and get the maximum. He asked for a few hours in which to decide but the authorities were insistent."

Tells Sordid Tale

Then he reconciled himself and settled down to relating a sordid story reeking with criminal misdeeds, including the raiding of many country banks and stores.

He took the beginning of the story back to the little rendezvous near Mobridge where the gang of eight plotted their robberies. He named the five other men who were in the gang as Fred Cline, alias Eue Claire Whitney, alias Whitey Cline, alias Al Superior Whitey, whose real name is said to be William Roder; John Linden, alias Devils Lake Red, who has served terms at Stillwater and Bismarck; Dan Morris, George Arnold, alias Shankey, Herman Richman, alias Rich.

All five men are well known by authorities all over the country. Cline is known generally as Whitey Cline. At the time of the Slater car theft he was believed to be the ringleader. He is an old timer and an expert "scoop man," having played a part in robberies at Lebanon, Okla., Ft. Yates, Selfridge and Lander, B. C. The latter was his biggest job. He got $135,000 on this job. Devils Lake Red was in the Krem, N. D. bank robbery and several others and he is now in jail at Stanton, N. D., on a burglary charge.

Stole Car At Jamestown

Then, the story says, the man engaged in attempted bank robberies in South Dakota and failed. The gang split up at the little shack near (Continued on page 4)

TAX MEN MEET AT ST. LOUIS

Tax Legislation and Related Questions Form Subjects For Discussion

St. Louis, Sept. 15.—Tax legislation and related questions form the principal subjects to be discussed during the five-day meeting of the National Tax Association, which opens here today. Increase in taxation during the last few years, the budget system of control, tax and debit limit laws and the overlapping and conflict between state and federal tax laws are some of the subjects that will be discussed by the various speakers.

Governors of the various states have appointed representatives to sit at the meetings. Delegates of universities and state associations of accountants also have been recognized, and will be entitled to attend the conferences. In addition, members of state tax commissions, boards of equalization and similar tax bodies are here for the conference.

One of the principal objectives of the National Tax Association is the adoption of a uniform tax law, local, state and federal.

Among the speakers who have been invited to address the session of the convention are: L. R. Gottlieb, of the research bureau of the National Industrial Conference Board; Professor C. C. Plinn of the University of California; Professor Jacob Viner of the Chicago University; C. P. Link, tax commissioner of Colorado; and Mark Graves, tax commissioner of New York state.

LABOR LACK IS NOT KEEN

No Danger of Serious Shortage Seen By Kitchen

Reports received from labor offices in the state by A. Kitchen, Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor, do not indicate a large shortage of men for harvest time. Mr. Kitchen said today. Rain has virtually halted threshing operations in a good part of the state and has had much to do with the lessening of demand for labor, he said. The Oakes labor office reported that there are plenty of men in that vicinity, although the crops are yielding better than expected. Because of wet weather in the Oakes area many laborers have left for the northern part of the state, the agent reported.

ASK WRIT TO FREE MAN IN LIQUOR CASE

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 15.—An attempt to free David Pleason, held in the Clay county jail in connection with the seizure of 640 gallons of distilled alcohol in Fargo Tuesday afternoon, was made today by Garfield H. Rustad of Moorhead, his attorney, when he swore out a writ of habeas corpus before J. M. Withers of Moorhead, Clay county court commissioner. The writ is returnable this afternoon.

Mr. Rustad asked for the writ on the ground that the authorities in Fargo have placed no charge whatever against Pleason and he has been held in the jail since his arrest without warrant or complaint.

There is a North Dakota warrant out for Pleason and the Minnesota authorities have simply been holding him in the Clay county jail, knowing that such a warrant was out and as a matter of courtesy between states.

Renew Effort In Collection Of Seed Loans

Grand Forks, Sept. 15.—A renewed effort to collect outstanding government seed loans in North Dakota and Montana will be commenced next week, it was announced Thursday by L. E. White, city director in charge of the work in this district. Small payments on these loans have been coming in regularly during the summer, Mr. White said, but now that many of the farmers have threshed, collectors will be sent into the fields to make collections.

There is every indication that the farmers in both this state and Montana will be able to meet their government obligations this fall, he said, and it is probable that the collection work here will be cleaned up this season.

The district office, which is located here, is now operating with its maximum force of 15 clerks, supervised by Mr. White and his assistant, R. D. Cameron.

Following are the field men: Northwestern North Dakota—L. R. Severton, Grand Forks. Southwestern North Dakota—R. E. McCain of Dickinson. Eastern Montana—C. H. Sands, Devou.

GEORGES LOSES ANOTHER FIGHT

Paris, Sept. 15.—Georges Carpentier, immediately upon his recent return to France, lost another battle, concerning which there was absolutely no publicity beforehand and as to the result of which strenuous attempts have been made to preserve secrecy.

Georges' opponent was a garage attendant and the fight was a combination of Marquis and Queensbury rules and catch catch can wrestling. The boxer entered the garage in a great hurry and ordered the attendant to take his machine to the second floor in the elevator. Such work, not being a part of his particular duties, this free-born French citizen refused.

Carpentier renewed his instructions somewhat sharply and when the attendant persisted in his refusal and made some remark about "fresh war profiteers," Georges swung his famous right. It didn't land, for the garage man nimbly dodged, made a dive for Carpentier's legs, brought the boxer down and literally wiped the oily, begrimed floor with Georges' latest natty suit.

"BEAN KING" DISAPPEARS

Like Father, He Vanishes; Finances Blamed

Albion, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Lewis E. Sands, wholesale bean dealer and known as "the world's bean king," has vanished like his father did years ago. As a result of his disappearance, his wholesale plant here, and 28 receiving stations and warehouses in this state and scores of others throughout the country, are idle, in compliance with an order from his attorney. Liabilities of the company are said to exceed assets by from $300,000 to $500,000.

Millionaire, philanthropist and churchman, Sands built up his business from small beginnings.

When Henry Sands, father of Lewis, disappeared from his wife, two sons and two daughters, Sands, who was 15 years old, took up the burden of supporting the family. He chose to sort beans on small lots as his father had done. Within a few years, he was an employer and interested Wall Street capital in his business.

During the World War Sands furnished beans for the allied army and is said to have made more than a million dollars from these contracts. It is believed by friends that the strain of long devotion to business has affected his health.

FIRE VICTIMS BURIED IN SINGLE GRAVE

Dickinson, Sept. 15.—In a single grave in St. Joseph's cemetery the charred bodies of the six daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Spiechall, farmers of the South Heart vicinity, who perished in the fire which destroyed the farm home Wednesday night, together with those of their grandfather, Bergerin Reller, were laid gently to rest. Funeral services were held Friday morning, Rev. Fr. George Aberle, pastor of St. Joseph's church, officiating.

LARGE CROWDS ATTEND GRANT COUNTY FAIR

Carson, Sept. 15.—Larger crowds attended the Grant county fair this year than ever before, according to those in charge of the three day event, which closed on Friday. The exhibits were considered unusually good, while a program of horse, auto and foot races drew a good attendance. Boys and Girls, and Homemakers clubs had a number of interesting exhibits.

DICKINSON TO PRESENT "CAPPY RICKS"

Dickinson, Sept. 15.—"Cappy Ricks," well known screen and stage comedy drama will be presented at the Elks' auditorium in the near future under the auspices of St. Patrick's dramatic club. The exact date for staging the production has not yet been set but it will probably be the last week in September. Principal characters in the cast, selected this week, will be as follows: Cappy Ricks—Maurice Gipe. Florence Ricks—Marquerite Lish. Capt. Matt Peasley—Irving Gerlich. Ellen Murray—Grace McElure. Skinner Vincent Miklutech. Ciel Perelle—Bernard—Jack Sterkler.

GROVE DEFEATS LOCAL TEAM

The Grove team defeated the Bismarck Independents, 12 to 11, at the prison ball park Sunday afternoon. The game started out straight, with Sorlien and Scott pitching good ball. Heavy hitting began with Scott's home run in the third with one on. In the fifth the prison team scored six runs and the Independents came back in the next, scoring seven. Scott was relieved in this frame, R. E. Smith going in the box, while Sorlien pitched the full game for the Independents. Riley caught for Grove and Smith for the Independents. About 300 saw the game, which was full of pep from beginning to end.

NEW LEIPZIG WOMAN DIES

Funeral services are being held this afternoon for Mrs. Regina Roehl of New Leipzig, who died at local hospital after an eight day illness from pneumonia. She was 50 years old. Burial will be made at New Leipzig, the services being held in the New Leipzig Evangelical church.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Roehl is survived by two daughters, one son, and several grandchildren, all living at New Leipzig.

HEAVY FIRE LOSS IN FORKS

Business Houses Place Total at $42,000

Grand Forks, Sept. 15.—Late figures on the fire loss to business places in the Dinnic building of this city, which was partially destroyed Saturday night, are not changed. Three business places claim losses totaling $42,000, and damage to the building will amount to several thousand dollars but an accurate check had not been made this morning to determine the exact amount.

Funeral services for Alexander Slattery, janitor of the building, who lost his life in the fire, will be held Thursday. A son is to arrive from the west coast then.

Three Carloads Of Sheep Ordered By Washburn

Washburn, Sept. 15.—Farmers of Underwood have asked for a shipment of three cars of sheep, which will probably arrive about the middle of October. From 50 to 100 Rambouillet ewes have been ordered by a number of the farmers.

ONE INJURED IN CAR ACCIDENT

Van Hook, Sept. 15.—When making the turn on the TR trail about a half mile north of Stanley, a Ford auto driven by Ingvald Enger of White Earth went off the grade and turned over Friday evening. Roxie Oris, who was along with Mr. Enger in the car suffered a broken arm and a couple of broken ribs and other bruises.

Enger, who was pinned under the car managed to extricate himself and the boys walked back to Stanley, where they received medical aid. Mr. Enger escaped with a few bruises in his face.

HALVORSON TO START DRIVE

Minot, Sept. 15.—Halvor L. Halvorson, candidate for Governor, hopes to head the fusion ticket in opposition to the Nonpartisan candidates, left early this afternoon for Devils Lake where he will open his campaign for election to the gubernatorial chair.

FALLS 80-FEET, GIRL MAY LIVE

Minneapolis, Sept. 15.—Stella Ellis, 11-year-old girl, who fell over the edge of a bluff of the Mississippi River, Saturday and plunged 80 feet, landing in soft mud, probably will live, physicians said today.

$500 LOANED LISBON BOY

Lisbon, N. D., Sept. 15.—Under a plan worked out by the local Kiwanis club, the Lisbon fire department will loan $500 for a five cent term at interest not to exceed 7 percent, to the Lisbon Boy Scouts with which to build a Boy Scout home. A committee of businessmen will sign the notes with the Boy Scouts.

Permission has been granted for the erection of the building on city property. In addition to the $500 borrowed to finance the building proper, it is planned to spend about $400 or $500 more to make the building attractive and substantial.

Work will be begun on the home as soon as possible so that it may be ready for use this winter.

NOTICE Meeting and social given by the A. O. U. W. Tuesday, Sept. 16.

GERMANY TO ATTRACT AMERICANS

As Tourists Because They Are Good Spenders

Berlin, Sept. 12.—American tourists are coming to Germany again in sufficient numbers to arouse the hope that possibly by fall this business will again assume proportions something like normal.

But where the tourists spent weeks or months in Germany a year ago during the inflation period of the paper mark, they now remain a comparatively short time because of the high prices. Since the introduction of the Renten mark last November the cost of living has risen two or three fold what it was when the printing presses had much difficulty in keeping up with the demand for paper currency.

Government officials and representatives of the hotel keepers' association have been working for months upon a plan designed to reduce the cost of travel and living in Germany for tourists, but as yet no definite conclusions have been reached.

Tourist agencies which were operating sight-seeing cars from Strasbourg to Cologne by way of Mayence and through Coblenz, Bonn and other historic points along the Rhine, have abandoned the service because of the high prices for meals and rooms in German hotels, and the refusal of travelers to meet the increased rates.

MANY VISIT FLOWER SHOW

Fine Exhibit of Local Gardening Here Saturday

Hundreds of people visited the Laur Motor Sales building Saturday to view the exhibits in the first flower show Bismarck has held. Sixty entries were made, the contributions all having such merit that Thomas Killand of the Great Plains Experiment station, who did the judging, had some difficulty in arriving at his decisions.

The awards were as follows: For the best dahlia, Mrs. W. E. Lahr; honorable mention, Mrs. Otto Holtz; for the three best gladioli, Mrs. S. D. Cook; honorable mention, Guy Larson; for the best bouquet of sweet peas, Mrs. Herman Lieberg; honorable mention, Mrs. Fred Hanson; for the best group of zinnias,

A majority of men have selected the Gordon as the correct hat to wear. The price also is what it should be—five dollars, not seven

BIRCHENOUGH LEAVES

Lisbon, N. D., Sept. 15.—Rev. Allan O. Birchenough, known throughout North Dakota as "The Fighting Parson," because of his activity on the public platform in opposition to the Nonpartisan League, preached his farewell sermon at the Methodist church here on Sunday, and will leave today for Oskaloosa, Ia., where he has accepted the rectory of St. James Episcopal church.

Mrs. S. E. Bergeson; Honorable mention, Guy Larson; for the best cosmos, Mrs. R. G. Goddard; honorable mention, Mrs. Henry Dueme; for the most artistic bouquet of garden flowers, Mrs. W. F. Crewe, and honorable mention, Mrs. E. E. Morris.

Mrs. Crewe's bouquet consisted of an arrangement of annual larkspur, and perennial gypsophila. Mrs. Morris entered a bouquet of zinnias, and other brightly colored flowers.

The first prizes in each case were two dollars worth of bulbs for fall planting, to be chosen by the winner, and which were donated by the Association of Commerce.

Although it was not considered by the judge in the contest for garden flowers, Mr. Killand thought especially commendable the Otto Holtz exhibit of a basket of roses.

One of the interesting exhibits was the plan of a Bismarck back yard, entered by Mrs. E. A. Hughes, and which was a replica of her own yard.

The garden committee in charge of the show was headed by C. L. Young, who was assisted by Mrs. F. L. Conklin, H. S. Dobler, Burt Finney, and Dr. R. S. Towne. It is planned to have a number of flower shows next year.

WHAT THE RAILROADS HAVE DONE

An illuminating address was given by Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific Railroad, before the American Legion convention in St. Paul. Mr. Donnelly spoke on the American railroad problem, from the standpoint of one who had spent much of his life in railroad service.

With a natural pride in the work of himself and others in the railroad service he undertook to show that the railroads are managed efficiently and economically, and that they have been better managed under private ownership than when under government control. The contrast is impressive.

Mr. Donnelly pointed out that in September, 1920, the operating expenses of Class I railroads averaged a little less than $17,000,000 per day. This was shortly after government control ended, when railroads were trying to economize. In June, 1924, they averaged only $12,139,000 per day. Making allowance for a larger volume of traffic in the first period and some reduction in wages later, yet Mr. Donnelly was able to make an impressive showing for private control. Between December, 1917, when the government took over the operation of the railroads, and February, 1920, when government operation was discontinued, the operating expenses of class one railroads increased more than $6,200,000 per day. His cold figures were backed by the statement of Sir W. M. Acworth, a British authority on railroad operation, that the actual economy in operation on railroads in the United States is the best in the world. Yet in 1920 and 1921, he says, railroads made a return on investment not exceeding three and one-half per cent, in 1922 it was a little over 4 per cent and in 1923 it was about 5 per cent.

Rather a strong case against government ownership from the standpoint of efficiency and economy alone is built up. Among other things the railroads in 1923 paid $336,000,000 in taxes. An eastern economist has computed that the loss from this source would mean an additional amount for public expense would have to be raised which would be equivalent to $52.00 for every farm in North Dakota and more than this amount in some other states.

In France, for example, there are seven large railways, six operated privately and one by the government. In 1923 the private railways made considerable money while the government-operated railways lost heavily. The same is true in Canada where the Canadian Pacific is the single competitor of the nationally-owned railroads of Canada. Out of every dollar which the Canadian Pacific earned it paid out 80 cents for the cost of operation; out of every dollar earned by the Canadian National 95 cents was paid for operating expenses. The old story of wasteful governmental operation!

Many proponents of government ownership will wax enthusiastic in discussing new and untried economic and governmental theories. But the average citizen will look at the problem from a more common-sense standpoint should the danger of government ownership become imminent.

GOOD AS FAR AS IT GOES

Commissioner Larson's budget recommendations are good as far as they go and should receive the commendation of tax payers and endorsement of the city commission as they are in line with tax reduction.

However, a greater saving can be made and one that will meet with the most hearty endorsement of the people and that is the placing of the city engineer upon a salary basis and making him superintendent of the water plant and also giving him supervision of the street force, eliminating two positions without impairing efficiency at all.

Continuation of the bonus plan on public work is poor business and not good public policy and should be discontinued. With little public work in sight, the city engineer, as in Minot, can act as superintendent of the water works department. This economy should be effected as soon as possible. It is a change in the city affairs that taxpayers are urgently requesting.

The city budget should be altered along these lines so that with economies already recommended by Commissioner Larson an additional saving will be made.

Commissioner Thompson's recommendations were in line with feasible economy and should be adopted in toto.

ANOTHER DAVIS HOPE FADES

As the campaign proceeds, the fortunes of John W. Davis, the Democratic candidate, continue to ebb. Charles B. Cheney of the Minneapolis Journal, after a visit to Montana, finds that Davis is not expected to get more than 15 to 20 per cent of the vote in this state which has two Democratic Senators and has leaned more to the Democratic party than any other Northwest state. The reason is that Democratic leaders have endeavored to make a deal to throw votes to LaFollette.

The LaFollette movement, however, is confronted by the opposition of Farmer-Labor forces, with whom the LaFollette managers have refused to deal. It appears there will be three sets of presidential electors in Montana, all nominally for LaFollette. The entire situation is favorable to President Coolidge, and Republican leaders see much hope of him carrying the state. Fortune continues to smile on the campaign for the President.

LET'S HAVE THE STATEMENT

At this season of the year when the city is in the midst of budget making, a complete financial statement from the auditor would be of value to the tax payers and voters. This probably is forth-coming and should not be delayed too long.

The people like to know how the money is being spent, what the condition of the various sinking funds is and other matters pertinent to the people's business.

By all means a complete statement of the city's finances at an early date.

COOLIDGE OR CHAOS

(Duluth Herald)
The news that Chairman Butler of the Republican national committee brought to Chicago headquarters yesterday that Mr. Davis is virtually eliminated from the presidential contest, may be startling news to some parts of the country, but it is no surprise out here.

The contest is not, as it ordinarily would be, between the Republican candidate and the Democratic candidate.

It is not even a contest between the Republican president and Mr. LaFollette.

It is nearer a contest between President Coolidge and Brother Charles Bryan.

And in view of what would happen if, on the day after election, it were discovered that the electoral college would be unable to elect a president, that the election would be thrown into the turmoil of congress, that the house would wrangle and fail to elect a president, that the senate would wrangle and perhaps ultimately make Mr. Bryan president, and that in the long meanwhile business would be staggered by the resulting uncertainty and confusion, this means that the issue really is this: Coolidge, or chaos.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"The very ideal!" said Mister Snip Snap. "The very idea of Mrs. Cottontail saying that the shoes she bought for Cutie Cottontail were no good!"

"It's very queer!" said Nick. "Because she said she wanted good shoes for him to wear to school, so I got her the nicest ones we had in the store with copper toes and everything."

"Something must be wrong," said Nancy.

"Well," said Mister Snip Snap thoughtfully, "I've heard of school being hard on heads sometimes, but it's the very first time in all my life that I've ever heard that it was hard on feet."

"They all talked it over and talked it over, and at last it was decided that something was wrong, very much wrong indeed, with Cutie Cottontail's new shoes."

"Why they should wear into holes in such a short time nobody could think!"

"I tell you, Twins," said Mister Snip Snap. "You'll just have to go and visit the Meadow Grove School tomorrow and find out what makes Cutie Cottontail's shoes wear out."

"Bright and early when the clock struck nine and Mister Scribble Scratch, the fairy school master, had finished calling the roll, Nancy and Nick arrived at the school in the woods and said they had come to visit."

"That's very nice," said Mister Scribble Scratch. "Sit right here and you can see everything. Make yourselves at home."

He set out two chairs and the Twins thanked him and sat down. They saw Cutie Cottontail first thing in the first seat in the class, row in front of the teacher's desk. They could see his shoes, too, and just as Mrs. Cottontail had said, they were certainly worn out.

"First we'll have spelling," said Mister Scribble Scratch, the fairy schoolmaster. "Put your heads down on your slates, boys and girls."

All the little words children began to write at once. Scamper Squirrel made his tongue go as fast as his pencil and Cobby Coon made his eyes go up and down, and Cutie Cottontail wriggled his ears, but nobody moved his feet scarcely during the whole lesson. And Mister Scribble Scratch called out ten words to write.

Not Spelling wasn't hard on shoes. The couldn't be the trouble at all! It must be something else.

"We'll now have arithmetic," said Mister Scribble Scratch, putting five problems on the blackboard.

Slate pencils started to scratch again like rusty door hinges and each counting up as there was an 'finger!' But nobody used his feet much, so the Twins decided that it wasn't the number work that was wearing out Cutie's shoes, either.

Next they had reading, and everybody got a turn. Cutie read a line like this, "Cheer up, cheer up," said Mrs. Robin, 'cherries are ripe!'

But all he did was to stand up and sit down again after he was through. Reading wasn't hard on shoes, either.

Then they sang a song and marched around the room once. But that couldn't hurt a pair of shoes any more than a fly could wear out a window pane.

It was still a mystery how Cutie Cottontail's shoes could be worn out so dreadfully after only three days of school.

LETTER FROM BEATRICE GRIMSHAW SUMMERS TO SALLY ATHONTON

DEAR SALLY:

Well, here I am, at this notable and notorious Hollywood, and up to date it does not seem very much different from any other city of 120,000 inhabitants, except that it's almost unbelievably beautiful with its frame of purple foothills reaching up to the white-capped, soft gray mountains beyond. You drive through street after street lined each side with gorgeous pink and blue and green and gray and yellow bungalows that look like great doll houses set back on lawns of green dotted with flowers of every kind and hue.

I am delighted with it, and I am really mad about my little hilltop home which Dick purchased before he went east.

We drove directly from the station to the house. Dick had told me nothing about it. I was greeted at the door by a Jap houseman and a colored cook.

As we crossed the threshold after viewing all Los Angeles which lay behind us from the veranda outside, Dick said: "Welcome, Bee, to your home, and going to the mantle he took from it a little box in which was the deed to this lovely place made out in my name."

Wasn't he dear to think of this? He had put that box on that mantle before he left, and planned the whole dramatic homecoming. No wonder they want him in moving pictures!

I wish you could see it all, dear girl. Through a regular tangle of trees and shrubs you go up a winding walk of steps and flat places made of brick until you reach an outdoor staircase of old Spanish wrought iron. From there you look all over the city nestling below you among what seems to be a wooded landscape.

The inside of the house was only furnished as far as a few essentials are concerned. But they are very beautiful, artistic and unobtrusive. Dick said he had asked Miss Perier to oversee the work of some decorator who might furnish the house in all its entirety, but she said that would be very foolish of him.

Being a woman she knew that one of the thrills of a bride's life would be furnishing her own home.

"So here you have it, my dear," he said, "and here is a check for five thousand dollars to pay for the remainder of the doodads you may want to put into it."

I found Paula Perier charming, Sally—very vivacious and a little temperamental, but that is what one must expect to find in one as beautiful and as successfully artistic as she. There is quite a mystery about her. I think I told this to Dick and he laughed at me, but I have noticed her when she has thought no one was observing her. Her sparkling eyes always grow and her mouth droops at the corners. She always then makes me think of the Mater Dolorosa.

I am sure that this drew me to her more than all the rest. I wanted to comfort her. I wanted to be her friend. Perhaps that's the secret of her popularity, for even on the screen you get flashes of something which gives you the feeling that you are looking into a hidden place within an almost breaking heart.

BELIEVING WHAT YOU HEAR

By Albert Apple

This controversy between religion and science, about the theory of evolution, simmers down to the problem of how much one is willing to accept "on faith."

The scientists claim that religion is based on faith rather than proved fact.

But does it ever occur to these scientists that at least 95 per cent of their scientific knowledge is also based on faith?

For instance, every scientist will take oath that the skull of a creature known as the Java Ape Man, supposed to be half a million or so years old, exists—having been reconstructed from fragments. But how many scientists have actually seen this skull? Belief in this skull is entirely a matter of faith—credulously accepting the word of others.

We're all like the scientists, in that 95 per cent of what we "know" is accepted on faith alone. How do you know that there's a country called China? Were you ever there to see with your own eyes? Most of us have never seen China, but we believe in it.

Faith in the word of others makes us believe nearly everything we class as knowledge. Studying chemistry, we are told that water is a combination of hydrogen and oxygen—and we accept this as true, on faith.

Scientists "swore by" the authenticity of the Cardiff Giant—believed in it, many of them, because they had faith in it—until the giant was exposed as a "planted" hoax of P. T. Barnum.

The world is so big that a man traveling constantly for 100 years would see only a small fraction of the whole before he died. With this handicap, it's quite natural that nearly all of our knowledge is accepted on the basis of faith.

Faith is one of the mightiest forces in life.

It is just as much present in science as in religion.

All theories are eventually proved false—from Columbus knocking out the scientific theory that the earth was flat, to Einstein proving that parallel lines DO meet if indefinitely prolonged. The history of science is a history of exploded convictions—shattered faiths.

New York, Sept. 16.—"The Prince is a great guy."

That is the tribute paid the Prince of Wales by his chauffeur.

It probably is the most sincere and dependable tribute paid the visiting nobleman since no man is faultless in the eyes of his valet or chauffeur or masseur.

I talked with the Prince's chauffeur for 30 minutes but he was sworn to secrecy concerning intimate details. Just a good chauffeur.

The Prince appears to be as bored as American crowds are excited to get even a fleeting glimpse of him. He probably would give many dollars to spend a week in a one-room flat in Harlem.

The other day a thin woman with a ragged fur collar and a small child hung before the gate of the Prince's American home. She was Mrs. Katherine Tudor Vermillion who claims to be the last living descendant of Henry VIII of England and the ruling family of Tudor. Admittance was refused her.

At Belmont Park race track the Prince walked on forbidden ground. A track attendant ordered him away. The Prince smiled good naturedly and left.

Even a Prince respects efficiency. It reminds of the time in Indianapolis when Carl G. Fisher, famous sportsman and one of the three owners of the great automobile speedway, attempted to walk

CARE OF THE FEET

"Looks like you couldn't put your best foot forward," scoffed the office wit as Mr. Jones arrived limping.

His pet corn was at it again and his head was on his feet, as it were. There are not many people who try to make their feet behave. They watch their falling hair and their decaying teeth and all such matters, but their crippling feet get scant attention.

Shoes and stockings are important items, and they will be later remarked upon. But care of the feet themselves is important. Realize old people should not, as a rule, take regular foot baths but a sponge bath once or twice a week will suffice.

The proper time for the foot bath is at night. Whether hot or cold water is used depends upon the constitution and habits of the person.

For persons of advanced age a tepid bath is best; particularly if they are subject to rheumatism.

Realize old people should not, as a rule, take regular foot baths but a sponge bath once or twice a week will suffice.

THE EAGLE

(Florence Borner)

On yonder mountain's snowy crest,
He sits with pinions furled
And with a storm majestic mien,
He broods o'er all the world;
Perhaps he's thinking of the day,
When Wilderness was king,
And o'er the boundless plains and hills,
He flew on tireless wing.

To him the aspect must seem strange,
The haunts he loved so well,
Have given way to Man's domain,
While forests grew and fell;
From where he used to rear his young,
And have his ancient homes,
He sees uprising to the skies,
A city's spires and domes.

Oh, grand and noble warrior bird,
Thy fierce and piercing eye,
Hast seen the birth of Freedom's race,
From out the distant sky;
And wert it given thee to speak,
Strange things thy lips could tell,
But like the mountain, lake and rill,
You keep your secrets well.

Writers Discussed At Club Meeting

Biographical sketches of three American writers, together with a brief discussion of their writings, were read yesterday at the first meeting this year of the Woman's club. Mrs. J. P. Curran's paper was on Bryant, the subject of Mrs. H. L. Wheeler was Cooper, and Mrs. C. B. Nupen spoke on Irving. Roll call was responded to with the regular topics assigned to each member for the year. Following the program the time was spent informally, and refreshments were served. Nearly all the club members were present, having returned from summer vacations spent out of the city.

ENTERTAINS AT THEATRE PARTY

Misses Gwendolyn Welch, Josephine Welch, and Katharyn Gaddard, who expect to leave this week for Grand Forks, where they will attend the University of North Dakota, were the honor guests at a theatre party last night, at which Mrs. George Will was hostess. Six other girls were invited. After seeing the picture at the Eltinge, an informal time was spent at the home of Mrs. Will, where refreshments were served.

SINGS AT TEA

At the tea given Saturday afternoon by the Business and Professional Women's club in compliment to the teachers of the city schools, Mrs. Frank Barnes was among the women who contributed to the delightful musical program. She sang "Twilight for Dreaming" and "Roses of Picardy." Miss Marion Lescher accompanied her on the piano.

ACCEPTS POSITION WITH DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

Mrs. Emma Golden of Zealand, has accepted a position with the department of education, and will do Americanization work, and assist in institute work. Mrs. Golden has been instructor in the state normal industrial school at Ellendale for several summer sessions, and was superintendent of schools at Zealand for seven years.

TO HAVE CARD PARTY TOMORROW NIGHT

The U. C. T. ladies and their friends will have a card party tomorrow night at the Elks hall, beginning at 8 o'clock. At the meeting Saturday evening, Mrs. Coe Kiebert and Mrs. Cyril Meyers were initiated into membership. Dancing was enjoyed after the business meeting.

VISITS FRIENDS HERE

Miss Ruby Schuman of Fargo is spending a few days in the city visiting friends. Miss Schuman was formerly employed in the state highway commission office, and is well known in Bismarck. She is on her way to Highwood, Mont., expecting to leave for that place on Wednesday.

VISITS FRIENDS HERE

Miss Ella Larson is the guest of friends in town on her way to Missoula, Mont., where she will teach during the coming year. Miss Larson formerly taught in the Bismarck schools.

WEEKEND VISITORS

Mrs. Mary Templeman and daughter, Miss Vera Paul Hays, and Paul Thompson all of Minot were weekend visitors at the C. W. Smith home. Miss Vera Templeman is teaching school near Baldwin.

Panels of Velvet

Chenille crepe, velvet and maroon make this gown what it is. The velvet panels are the unique features and contribute most to the unusual effect. These combinations of materials are seen very generally in the fall collections and they are a boon to the home dress-maker since they offer excellent opportunities for making over frocks. This outfit is carried out in brilliant red.

At The Movies

THE ELTINGE
More laughs in an hour than you've had in a year.

"That's what 'Changing Husband' the new picture, featuring Leatrice Joy and coming to the Eltinge theatre Wednesday and Thursday, promises picture patrons. A laugh for every foot, that's what they have put into this screen version of Elizabeth Alexander's story. Forget about all your worries for a while. Leave the radio alone for a night, and take in 'Changing Husband.' It's a matrimonial mix-up that'll make you laugh yourself silly. Victor Varconi, Raymond Griffith and others play in support.

CAPITOL
"Daughters of Today" which opened a three days engagement at the Capitol Theatre yesterday will probably develop into a very much discussed subject before the week is up. It is like a stick of dynamite going off in the midst of a jazz band's rendition of "The Jazz Babies Ball." It reels off to the tempo of the jazz age but its punches hit like a tip hammer. In it one hears the moaning of the bass saxophone but one also hears the moaning of thousands of mothers who are nightly asking "What Is My Daughter Doing?"

GETS REWARD 26 YEARS OLD

Fargo Man Given Medal For Spanish-War Action

Fargo, Sept. 16.—That rewards, though long in coming, may not always be deferred for a heavenly existence, is proved by the experience of Lieut. Col. M. F. Steele of Fargo, who has just received a citation for gallantry in action in the Spanish-American War. He says the incident is so far in the past that he cannot recall it.

"For gallantry in action, against Spanish forces at Santiago, Cuba, July 1, 1898," is the only explanation the citation gives. Col. Steele was then lieutenant, first cavalry brigade, United States Army. The citation entitles him to wear "One silver citation star on the ribbon of your Spanish uniform. The Quartermaster-General has been directed to send the star to you."

The citation is made "by direction of the president" under provisions of the act of Congress approved July 9, 1918, according to the notification from the War Department.

LONG ILLNESS ENDS IN DEATH

Miss Margaret Lyons Succumbs in Local Hospital

Miss Margaret Mary Lyons died yesterday afternoon at three o'clock at a local hospital, following an illness of several weeks, death resulting from a complication of diseases. Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at St. Mary's Pro-Cathedral at 8:30. Rev. Father Slag reading the service. Burial will be made in St. Mary's cemetery. Miss Lyons, who is the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lyons of Bismarck, was born in Fargo, N. D., May 10, 1900. Since her graduation five years ago from St. John's Academy at Jamestown she has made her home at Billings, Mont. She had been in Bismarck for six weeks before she died. Previous to her residence at Billings, she had made her home here, and has a large number of friends in the city.

How to Make Grape Jelly in 15 Minutes

By Ann Proctor

The most delicious grape jelly you ever tasted—chock full of the natural color and flavor—can be made at home by anyone within 15 minutes after the fruit is crushed and squeezed. I use the Certo method because it takes only one-half minute's boiling, thus saving flavor and color, never fails, permits the use of full-ripe grapes, and is cheaper because I get one-half more jelly from the same amount of grapes.

To make 12 large glasses of grape jelly, use this simple recipe: Stem and crush thoroughly about 3 lbs. ripe grapes. Add 1-2 cup water, stir until boiling and simmer 10 minutes in closely covered saucepan. Place fruit in cheese cloth bag and squeeze out juice. Then drip juice through cotton flannel bag if a sparkling jelly is desired. Measure 8 level cups (3 1-2 lbs.) sugar and 4 cups (2 lbs.) juice from cooked fruit into large saucepan, stir and bring to a boil. At once add 1 bottle (one cup) Certo, stirring constantly and bring again to a full boil for 1-2 minutes. Remove from fire, let stand 1 minute, skim and pour quickly.

By this "short Certo Process" you save all the flavor and color that was boiled away by the old method. Time and worry are also saved and you have 5 lbs. of jelly from 2 lbs. of grape juice as against 3 lbs. of jelly by the old method; and the cost with 30c grapes and 10c sugar is less than 10c per glass.

Certo is simply the "jell" property of fruit, refined and concentrated. It contains no gelatine or preservative and is sold by grocers everywhere. The above recipe and nearly 100 others for making delicious jellies and jams by the "Certo Process" are found in the Certo Book of Recipes, a copy of which is attached to every bottle of Certo. Be sure to try the Certo recipe for grape jam, heretofore considered impossible to make. Use Certo this year in making all your jams and jellies. It saves time, worry and boiling. The "Certo Process" never fails and saves money, because you make one-half more jelly from the same amount of fruit; it is endorsed by national authorities and householders everywhere. Jelly and jam made with Certo keep perfectly.

N. P. OFFICIALS VISIT CITY

Are Entertained During Short Stay Here

Howard Elliott, chairman of the board of directors of the Northern Pacific Railway, and party of officials and eastern financiers, who have been traveling over the lines, stopped in Bismarck for about two hours last night. They left at midnight in their special train over the Soo line to Wilton and from there were to go over the Wilton-Prairie branch of the N. P. on their way east.

Rumors have been current west of the Missouri River, in connection with the trip, that the proposed extension of the Killdeer branch to Newell Junction, Montana, might be made. Officials said their trip only was for inspection purposes.

The officials also inspected the Roscoe mine of the Northern Pacific in Montana. Included in the party was J. M. Hannaford, former president now vice-chairman of the board; J. M. Rapelye, general manager; T. H. Lantry, general superintendent, and others.

In Bismarck last night the visitors met a number of local people at the home of E. A. Hughes.

HUNTERS GET LIMIT EASILY

Party of Three Finds Game Is Plentiful

Plenty of chickens. This was the first report of today's hunting brought to the Tribune. Wm. Noggle, Frank Snyder and R. W. Folsom were back at 10 a. m. with the limit, five prairie chickens each. They said the country was full of game.

Another party in Mandan, getting home about 10 a. m. with but three birds, declared there were few young chickens in the country.

Scores of Bismarck people today were out to take advantage of the first day of the hunting season.

Eczema Tortured Man Now Well

"I have suffered intense agony from eczema on my leg and other parts of my body for years, and received only temporary relief from other preparations. It is only a month since I started to use PETERSON'S OINTMENT, and there is no sign of eczema or itching. You can refer to me," Geo. C. Talbot, 27 Penfield Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I've got a hundred testimonials," says Peterson of Buffalo, "just as sincere and honest as this one. Years ago, when I first started to put on PETERSON'S OINTMENT, I made up my mind to give a big box for 50 cents, and I am still doing it, as every druggist in the country knows. I guarantee PETERSON'S OINTMENT because I know that its mighty healing power is marvelous, and that it is rigidly guaranteed for eczema, salt rheum, old sores, blind, bleeding and itching piles, ulcers, skin diseases, chafing, burns, scalds and sunburn and if not satisfactory any druggist will return your money."

WHAT THE RAILROADS HAVE DONE

An illuminating address was given by Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific Railroad, before the American Legion convention in St. Paul. Mr. Donnelly spoke on the American railroad problem, from the standpoint of one who had spent much of his life in railroad service.

With a natural pride in the work of himself and others in the railroad service he undertook to show that the railroads are managed efficiently and economically, and that they have been better managed under private ownership than when under government control. The contrast is impressive.

Mr. Donnelly pointed out that in September, 1920, the operating expenses of Class I railroads averaged a little less than $17,000,000 per day. This was shortly after government control ended, when railroads were trying to economize. In June, 1924, they averaged only $12,139,000 per day. Making allowance for a larger volume of traffic in the first period and some reduction in wages later, yet Mr. Donnelly was able to make an impressive showing for private control. Between December, 1917, when the government took over the operation of the railroads, and February, 1920, when government operation was discontinued, the operating expenses of class one railroads increased more than $6,200,000 per day. His cold figures were backed by the statement of Sir W. M. Acworth, a British authority on railroad operation, that the actual economy in operation on railroads in the United States is the best in the world. Yet in 1920 and 1921, he says, railroads made a return on investment not exceeding three and one-half per cent. In 1922 it was a little over 4 per cent and in 1923 it was about 5 per cent.

Rather a strong case against government ownership from the standpoint of efficiency and economy alone is built up. Among other things the railroads in 1923 paid $336,000,000 in taxes. An eastern economist has computed that the loss from this source would mean an additional amount for public expense would have to be raised which would be equivalent to $52.00 for every farm in North Dakota and more than this amount in some other states.

In France, for example, there are seven large railways, six operated privately and one by the government. In 1923 the private railways made considerable money while the government-operated railways lost heavily. The same is true in Canada where the Canadian Pacific is the single competitor of the nationally-owned railroads of Canada. Out of every dollar which the Canadian Pacific earned it paid out 80 cents for the cost of operation; out of every dollar earned by the Canadian National 95 cents was paid for operating expenses. The old story of wasteful governmental operation!

Many proponents of government ownership will wax enthusiastic in discussing new and untried economic and governmental theories. But the average citizen will look at the problem from a more common-sense standpoint should the danger of government ownership become imminent.

GOOD AS FAR AS IT GOES

Commissioner Larson's budget recommendations are good as far as they go and should receive the commendation of tax payers and endorsement of the city commission as they are in line with tax reduction.

However, a greater saving can be made and one that will meet with the most hearty endorsement of the people and that is the placing of the city engineer upon a salary basis and making him superintendent of the water plant and also giving him supervision of the street force, eliminating two positions without impairing efficiency at all.

Continuation of the bonus plan on public work is poor business and not good public policy and should be discontinued. With little public work in sight, the city engineer, as in Minot, can act as superintendent of the water works department. This economy should be effected as soon as possible. It is a change in the city affairs that taxpayers are urgently requesting.

The city budget should be altered along these lines so that with economies already recommended by Commissioner Larson an additional saving will be made.

Commissioner Thompson's recommendations were in line with feasible economy and should be adopted in toto.

ANOTHER DAVIS HOPE FADES

As the campaign proceeds, the fortunes of John W. Davis, the Democratic candidate, continue to ebb. Charles B. Cheney of the Minneapolis Journal, after a visit to Montana, finds that Davis is not expected to get more than 15 to 20 per cent of the vote in this state which has two Democratic Senators and has leaned more to the Democratic party than any other Northwest state. The reason is that Democratic leaders have endeavored to make a deal to throw votes to LaFollette.

The LaFollette movement, however, is confronted by the opposition of Farmer-Labor forces, with whom the LaFollette managers have refused to deal. It appears there will be three sets of presidential electors in Montana, all nominally for LaFollette. The entire situation is favorable to President Coolidge, and Republican leaders see much hope of him carrying the state. Fortune continues to smile on the campaign for the President.

LET'S HAVE THE STATEMENT

At this season of the year when the city is in the midst of budget making, a complete financial statement from the auditor would be of value to the tax payers and voters. This probably is forth-coming and should not be delayed too long.

The people like to know how the money is being spent, what the condition of the various sinking funds is and other matters pertinent to the people's business.

By all means, a complete statement of the city's finances at an early date.

Editorial Review

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

COOLIDGE OR CHAOS

(Duluth Herald)
The news that Chairman Butler of the Republican national committee brought to Chicago headquarters yesterday, that Mr. Davis is virtually eliminated from the presidential contest, may be startling news to some parts of the country, but it is no surprise out here.

The contest is not, as it ordinarily would be, between the Republican candidate and the Democratic candidate.

It is not even a contest between the Republican president and Mr. LaFollette.

It is nearer a contest between President Coolidge and Brother Charles Bryan.

And in view of what would happen if, on the day after election, it were discovered that the electoral college would be unable to elect a president, that the election would be thrown into the turmoil of congress, that the house would wrangle and fail to elect a president, that the senate would wrangle and perhaps ultimately make Mr. Bryan president, and that in the long meanwhile business would be staggered by the resulting uncertainty and confusion, this means that the issue really is this: Coolidge, or chaos.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BASTON

"The very ideal!" said Mister Snip Snip. "The very idea of Mrs. Cottontail saying that the shoes she bought for Cutie Cottontail were no good!"

"It's very queer!" said Nick. "Because she said she wanted good shoes for him to wear to school, so I got her the nicest ones we had in the store with copper toes and everything."

"Something must be wrong," said Nancy.

"Well," said Mister Snip Snip thoughtfully, "I've heard of school being hard on heads sometimes, but I've never heard that it was hard on feet."

They all talked it over and talked it over, and at last it was decided that something was wrong, very much wrong indeed, with Cutie Cottontail's new shoes.

Why they should wear into holes in such a short time nobody could think!

"I tell you, Twins," said Mister Snip Snip, "You'll just have to go and visit the Meadow Grove School tomorrow and find out what makes Cutie Cottontail's shoes wear out."

So bright and early when the clock struck nine and Mister Scribble Scratch, the fairy school master, had finished calling the roll, Nancy and Nick arrived at the school in the woods and said they had come to visit.

"That's very nice," said Mister Scribble Scratch. "Sit right here and you can see everything. Make yourself at home in the Meadow Grove School."

He set out two chairs and the Twins thanked him and sat down. They saw Cutie Cottontail first thing, in the first seat in the third row in front of the teacher's desk. They could see his shoes, too, and just as Mrs. Cottontail had said, they were certainly worn out.

"First we'll have spelling," said Mister Scribble Scratch, the fairy schoolmaster. "Put your headings on your slates, boys and girls!"

All the little wood children began to write at once. Scamper Squirrel made his tongue go as fast as his pencil and Cobble Cooon made his eyes go up and down, and Cutie Cottontail wriggled his ears, but nobody moved his feet scarcely during the whole lesson. And Mister Scribble Scratch called out ten words to write.

Not spelling wasn't hard on shoes. The couldn't be the trouble at all! It must be something else.

"We'll now have arithmetic," said Mister Scribble Scratch, putting five problems on the blackboard.

Slate pencils started to scratch again like rusty door hinges and such counting up as there was on fingers! But nobody used his feet much, so the Twins decided that it wasn't the number work that was wearing out Cutie's shoes, either.

Next they had reading, and everybody got a turn. Cutie read a line like this, "Cheer up, cheer up," said Mrs. Robin, "cherries are ripe."

But all he did was to stand up and sit down again after he was through. Reading wasn't hard on shoes, either.

Then they sang a song and marched around the room once. But that couldn't hurt a pair of shoes any more than a fly could wear out a window pane.

It was still a mystery how Cutie Cottontail's shoes could be worn out so dreadfully after only three days of school.

The Tangle

LETTER FROM BEATRICE GRIMSHAW SUMMERS TO SALLY AHTERTON

DEAR SALLY:

Well, here I am, at this notable and notorious Hollywood, and up to date it does not seem very much different from any other city of 120,000 inhabitants, except that it's almost unbelievably beautiful with its frame of purple foothills reaching up to the white-capped, soft gray mountains beyond.

I am delighted with it, and I am really mad about my little hilltop home which Dick purchased before he went east.

We drove directly from the station to the house. Dick had told me nothing about it. I was greeted at the door by a Jap houseman and a colored cook.

As we crossed the threshold after viewing all Los Angeles which lay behind us from the veranda outside, Dick said: "Welcome, Bee, to your home," and going to the mantle he took from it a little box in which was the deed to this lovely place made out in my name.

Wasn't he dear to think of this? He had put that box on that mantle before he left, and planned the whole dramatic homecoming. No wonder they want him in moving pictures!

I wish you could see it all, dear girl. Through a regular tangle of trees and shrubs you go up a winding walk of steps and flat places made of brick until you reach an outdoor staircase of old Spanish wrought iron. From there you look all over the city nestling below you among what seems to be a wooded landscape.

The inside of the house was only furnished as far as a few essentials are concerned. But they are very beautiful, artistic and unobtrusive. Dick said he had asked Miss Perier to oversee the work of some decorator who might furnish the house in all its entirety, but she said that would be very foolish of him.

Being a woman she knew that one of the thrills of a bride's life would be furnishing her own home.

"So here you have it, my dear," he said, "and here is a check for five thousand dollars to pay for the remainder of the doddies you may want to put into it."

I found Paula Perier charming. Sally—very vivacious and a little temperamental, but that is what one must expect to find in one as beautiful and as successfully artistic as she. There is quite a mystery about her, I think. I told this to Dick and he laughed at me, but I have noticed her when she has thought no one was observing her. Her sparkling eyes always grow and her mouth droops at the corners. She always then makes me think of the Watercolorist.

I am sure that this drew me to her more than all the rest. I wanted to comfort her. I wanted to be her friend. Perhaps that's the secret of her popularity, for even on the screen you get flashes of something which gives you the feeling that you are looking into a hidden place within an almost breaking heart.

BELIEVING WHAT YOU HEAR

By Albert Apple

This controversy between religion and science, about the theory of evolution, simmers down to the problem of how much one is willing to accept "on faith."

The scientists claim that religion is based on faith rather than proved fact.

But does it ever occur to these scientists that at least 95 per cent of their scientific knowledge is also based on faith?

For instance, every scientist will take oath that the skull of a creature known as the Java Ape Man, supposed to be half a million or so years old, exists—having been reconstructed from fragments. But how many scientists have actually seen this skull? Belief in this skull is entirely a matter of faith—credulously accepting the word of others.

We're all like the scientists, in that 95 per cent of what we "know" is accepted on faith alone. How do you know that there's a country called China? Were you ever there to see with your own eyes? Most of us have never seen China, but we believe in it.

Faith in the word of others makes us believe nearly everything we class as knowledge. Studying chemistry, we are told that water is a combination of hydrogen and oxygen—and we accept this as true, on faith.

Scientists "swore by" the authenticity of the Cardiff Giant—believed in it, many of them, because they had faith in it—until the giant was exposed as a "planted" hoax of P. T. Barnum.

The world is so big that a man traveling constantly for 100 years would see only a small fraction of the whole before he died. With this handicap, it's quite natural that nearly all of our knowledge is accepted on the basis of faith.

Faith is one of the mightiest forces in life.

It is just as much present in science as in religion.

All theories are eventually proved false—from Columbus knocking out the scientific theory that the earth was flat, to Einstein proving that parallel lines DO meet if indefinitely prolonged. The history of science is a history of exploded convictions—shattered faiths.

New York, Sept. 16.—"The Prince is a great guy."

That is the tribute paid the Prince of Wales by his chauffeur.

It probably is the most sincere and dependable tribute paid the visiting nobleman since he man is faultless in the eyes of his valet or chauffeur or masseur.

I talked with the Prince's chauffeur for 30 minutes but he was sworn to secrecy concerning intimate details. Just a good chauffeur.

The Prince appears to be as bored as American crowds are excited to get even a fleeting glimpse of him. He probably would give many dollars to spend a week in a one-room flat in Harlem.

The other day a thin woman with a ragged fur collar and a small child hunched before the gate of the Prince's American home. She was Mrs. Katherine Tudor Vermillion, who claims to be the last living descendant of Henry VIII of England and the ruling family of Tudor. Admittance was refused her.

At Belmont Park race track the Prince walked on forbidden ground. A track attendant ordered him away. The Prince smiled good naturedly and left.

Even a Prince respects efficiency. It reminds of the time in Indianapolis when Carl G. Fisher, famous sportsman and one of the three owners of the great automobile speedway, attempted to walk across the track of his race course during practice.

"You can't go in there," he was told by a guard.

"But I own most of this track," he answered.

"Go tell it to the manager," said the guard as he edged Fisher gateward.

That same day the guard's salary was increased and his future assured.

"Dice net hbt," is a prayerful plea of those addicted to shuffling speckled cubes.

But Lawrence Hirschbach warned his dice so much in a game the other day they caught fire and started a blaze that threatened his home.

New York may josh about the wide open spaces where men are men and they still wear rubber cal-lars. But when the wild west riders come here each year for Tex Austin's rodeo the town turns out. The show has just been announced for October 18 to 31.

As soon as the world became well discovered, World's Fairs became popular. Now with radio in the best graces of a tinkering public the first radio fair will be held here Sept. 22.

Music coks from strange haunts. William Oppenheimer, a stage door man, has just had a song published.

FABLES ON HEALTH—CARE OF THE FEET

"Looks like you couldn't put your best foot forward," scoffed the office wit as Mr. Jones arrived limping.

His pet corn was at it again and his head was on his feet, as it were. There are not many people who try to make their feet behave. They watch their falling hair and their decaying teeth and all such matters, but their crippling feet get scant attention.

Shoes and stockings are important items, and they will be later remarked upon. But care of the feet themselves is important.

The feet should be washed thoroughly with a good antiseptic soap. This habit should be established from the day shoes and stockings are first donned.

Wipe them thoroughly, particularly between the toes. Cut the nails square and be careful they are not trimmed below the top of the toes; otherwise ingrown toenails may develop.

YANKEES TIE THE SENATORS

Win White Washington Loses in Ball Games

Chicago, Sept. 16.—The New York Yankees and Washington Senators were tied for first place in the American League today. New York, which has been playing brilliant ball for several days, won from Chicago, 6 to 0, while Washington lost to Detroit by the same score. Both New York and Washington have but 13 games left to play during the season.

Sam Jones pitched great ball for the Yankees in beating the Chicago White Sox, while "Rip" Collins held Washington to four hits as the Tigers were getting nine off Morridge. Van Gilder's good pitching enabled St. Louis to beat Boston, 4 to 3. In the only game played in the National League, Pittsburgh won an uphill fight from Boston in 12 innings, and now is but one and a half games behind Brooklyn, still trailing the Giants.

FRANK CHANCE, FAMOUS BASE BALL MAN, DIES

Los Angeles, Sept. 16.—Frank Chance, manager of the Chicago White Sox, died here last night after a long illness.

For several months Chance has been recuperating in Southern California from a breakdown suffered in Chicago last spring in an attempt to resume active management of the White Sox. He was at his apartment here early tonight when another sudden attack caused his removal to the Good Samaritan hospital, where he died within a half hour.

WHEAT FALLS AT OPENING

Canadian Crop Estimate Proves Bearish

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Wheat prices declined to a material extent today as a result of Canadian crop estimates which, contrary to predictions, proved to be bearish instead of bullish. Opening prices, which ranged from 1/2 to 1 1/4 c lower, with December 1 1/8 c to 1 1/4 c, were followed by a slight further setback and then by an upturn to near yesterday's finish.

Subsequently the market again weakened. Demand became slack when buyers endeavored to realize profits. The close was unsettled, 1/2 c to 3/4 c net lower, December 1 1/8 c to 1 1/4 c and May 1 1/4 c to 1 1/2 c.

What This Buffalo Physician Has Done For Humanity

The picture which appears here of Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., was taken in 1910. As a young man Dr. Pierce practiced medicine in Pennsylvania and was known far and wide for his great success in alleviating disease. He early moved to Buffalo and put up a really-to-use form, his Golden Medical Discovery, the well-known tonic for the blood. This strength-builder is made from a formula which Dr. Pierce found most effective in diseases of the blood. It contains no alcohol and is an extract of native roots with the ingredients plainly stated on the wrapper. Good blood, vim, vigor and vitality are sure to follow if you take this Alternative Extract. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery clears away pimples and annoying eruptions, tends to keep the complexion fresh and clear. This Discovery corrects the disordered conditions in a sick stomach, aids digestion, acts as a tonic and purifies the blood. Write Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., and receive confidential medical advice free. Send 10c for trial pkg. tablets. All druggists sell Discovery, tablets or liquid.

move poles from Main street. Salary expense of the street department was cut, it was said.

In explaining the ordinance Commissioner Larson said: "By employing a full-time auditor removing the water department office to the city hall and handling the business there and having the auditor do the assessing a saving of about $3,000 a year is effected. We want to work out a card index system of assessing, so that the value of each piece of property for taxation purposes is listed in a card index from year to year.

"Most of the expenses of the city are fixed expenses, such as for the road fund, swimming pool, etc. and a great deal of change in these cannot be made. We are providing no levy for the contingency fund, although it is listed in the appropriations, because the fund is in good shape and receipts from the city scales and other sources will replenish the fund."

The expense for the city swimming pool is placed at $1,700. Receipts at the pool this year during the past summer were about $600. The budget ordinance follows:

An ordinance making the annual appropriation and levy for the expenses of the city of Bismarck, North Dakota, for the fiscal year commencing September 1st, 1924.

ROBINSON WINS
George Robinson was awarded the prize of $100 in the salesmanship contest held by the Western Auto company which closed with a banquet Saturday evening at the Lewis and Clark hotel at which there were 21 employees of the firm present. E. W. Elder and J. N. Bender were second and third respectively of the six salesmen. Another contest was started today and will be closed December first.

CAFE IS CLOSED
The Busy Bee cafe operated by Tom George, George Kapronos, Wm. Kontos and others, was temporarily closed yesterday when creditors petitioned the courts for a receivership. The cafe was quite heavily involved but it is understood that it will be opened for business later.

With ROOSEVELT IN AFRICA

by W. Robert Foran
© 1924 NEA Service Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Robert Foran, newspaper correspondent, accompanies the Theodore Roosevelt expedition into Africa in 1905. They arrive at Mombassa, the "gateway of British East Africa," and then make the railroad journey to their first camp on the general crowded Kapiti Plains, 283 miles from the coast. With Colonel Roosevelt are his son, Kermit, and three scientific members of his staff—Major A. Mearns, Edmund Heller and J. Allen Loring.

Incredible good luck comes to the rifles of Colonel Roosevelt and Kermit during the first two weeks of their sojourn. At Nairobi a reception is given in honor of Colonel Roosevelt by Sir Frederick Jackson, the acting governor. While Roosevelt and Kermit are mingling with the guests, Foran goes to look for the three naturalists.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
They were nowhere to be seen in the ball-room, so I wandered out into the beautiful gardens that surround the official residence of the governor. I knew that they would most probably be found searching for birds and small mammals. My diagnosis was quite correct. They were finally discovered enjoying the still night and eagerly hunting for new specimens for their collection. Social functions bored them; but natural history did not. They never allowed any opportunity to capture new species to escape them.

Mearns was stumped beneath a big tree trying to catch the dulcet notes of birds who had been awakened by the military band. Heller and Loring were intently engaged upon catching some of the many bats which flitted hither and thither in the moonlit ground of Government House. The regulation evening clothes of civilization made their efforts appear somewhat incongruous, perhaps; but neither scientist appeared to be aware of the fact.

On another night, the Roosevelts accompanied the Government House party to an amateur performance, the "Nairobi Follies," in the Railway Institute in the center of the town. The program consisted of two parts—the first, a minstrel entertainment with topical songs, all written by local officials of the government, with many humorous allusions to the guest of honor; and the second, a playlet entitled "Bluebeard in East Africa," which had been written by local dramatists. Theodore Roosevelt's hearty laugh was frequently heard well above that of the remainder of the audience, and he appeared particularly to enjoy the many topical songs that related to himself.

Two of the songs are well worth reproducing. The words were written by Benjamin Eastwood, the chief auditor of the Uganda Railway, in conjunction with A. J. Monson, the chief secretary of the government.

The first one to evoke Theodore Roosevelt's laughter, was sung to the tune of "A Gay Tom-tit" from the "Geisha" and was entitled "Felis Leo." The words were as follows: A lion lurked in his lonely lair, As African lions do, For he liked to be where he could get a share Of a nice little buck, with a stroke of luck.

In our wonderful nature's zoo, His large inside he nightly fed with zebra or hartbeeste instead. "There isn't a scrap of doubt," said he, "This diet's exceedingly good for me. For I grow fat, fat, fatter, 'What on earth does it mat, mat, mat."

"If the way that I creep on the beasts in their sleep, 'Makes the poor things scart, scart, scatter?'"

He hunted game in the moonlight bright, With never a thought of harm; But he got quite a fright, when there hove in sight Teddy armed to the teeth with a knife and sheath, And a rifle beneath his arm. The Colonel plucked him with a laugh, While Kermit took his photograph. Said he, "These Wall Street boys would cry—

"If they knew how near I'd been to die, 'Oh, this country's full, full, bully! 'I've enjoyed it full, full, fully, 'For it cures the best they can show in the west, 'That's so wild and wool, wool, woolly!'"

Another topical song that evening had reference to the general comment locally at the well-aided disappointment of some visiting members of the American press at not having been able to accompany the Roosevelts on their hunting trips.

This particular song was entitled "B. E. A. (with apologies to Rudyard Kipling)," and was rendered to the tune of "Mandalay." The words of the chorus follow:

Yes he shut out all the press And he left them there to guess, They raved, and growled, and grumbled, They were left in such a mess.

But that's all passed and done with, For they were not far away; And their news is scattered broad cast Over all the world today. It is nice to be polite— But the New York papers had it On the previous Sunday night.

Oh! it really was a frost, And one finds it to one's cost, One is very often left, One is very often left.

This song was as much enjoyed by the Roosevelts as it was by the newspaper men present.

The Roosevelts, father and son, were the guests of the governor for the first three days while in Nairobi.

and then they moved over to McMillan's town house to join the three naturalists and "R. J." It was a fine stone building standing in extensive and pretty grounds. It was most comfortably furnished, and provided exceptionally roomy quarters for all of the party.

In between the special rounds of guests, Colonel Roosevelt worked industriously on his book about his adventures and was able, in the peace of rural Parklands the growing suburb of Nairobi—to bring up to date all his articles, which task would have been a physical impossibility while on safari.

Frequently during those crowded days, I was invited to lunch or dine with the Roosevelts, and the general topic of conversation was always concerned with the game of East Africa or the immense future possibilities of the country.

One evening, after dinner, Theodore Roosevelt was discussing with Hinde, the commissioner of the Uganda province, "the all-important question of immigration to East Africa."

"I firmly believe in the future of this great country for European settlement," asserted Roosevelt, with marked emphasis. "You have requirements that are best suited to the requirements of white men; others that are only suitable for Indians and Africans. It is a matter purely of climatic conditions. In some areas the whites can live and settle permanently, as in our own west, but in others—especially the coastal regions—the climate is such that only natives of India or Africa can hope to survive."

"The government of East Africa has set apart the highland belt for white settlement ever since they commenced to invite Europeans to settle here, in 1904," said Hinde.

"And that is a very wise policy," exclaimed Roosevelt, as he gave point to his assertion with a thump of his fist on the table. "There can be no possible question about its wisdom. Every possible encouragement should be afforded to Europeans to come out here, take up the land and develop it. Non-white people should be encouraged equally, but not to settle where there is any possibility for them to come into open rivalry with the Europeans."

On the afternoon of Sunday, May 30, Colonel Roosevelt took Kermit, Dawson and myself out to visit the Roman Catholic mission at Kokuyu. It is conducted by the French fathers, and is situated some three miles outside of Parklands, suburb of Nairobi.

We spent a very interesting hour at the mission, and were taken all over the estate and buildings by the good fathers in charge. There was a convent school attached to the mission, and Colonel Roosevelt appeared to be much interested in the fact that amongst the pupils—who were the children of European settlers—were a few Bantu children. They were the only exception to the rule that it was a school for European children only. The mission also owned a splendid coffee estate—they had been the pioneers in coffee-growing in East Africa—the trees of which were most prolific in their yield of berries.

As we drove back to Nairobi in the cool of the evening, I asked Colonel Roosevelt what had been his impression.

"I must confess to great admiration for the work of all missions in Africa," he said, with conviction in his tones. "There is something very fine in the manner they all quietly and unobtrusively go to work, without pressing their convictions and religion too persistently upon the natives of the country in which they labor."

"I like to see their teaching the natives useful arts and crafts, such as we have just witnessed. Eventually the natives will realize that these missionaries are wise and good people; and then they will be ready to follow them. Their progress must be slow; but if it is slow, it is also sure. That is the most lasting form of progress."

CHAPTER VI

Pioneers of Two Continents

We had left Nairobi at mid-day on June 2nd by special train for Kijabe, from whence the Roosevelts would start forth on their first prolonged safari into the wilds of Africa. We arrived at our destination just before sunset.

N. D. CONVICT WRITES

LIFE STORY OF CRIME

Washington, N. D., Sept. 15.—Declaring he wants to warn youths against a life of crime and wrong doing, "Missouri Bob" given 28 months in the state penitentiary for a burglary at Hankinson, turned author while first steps on the off hand.

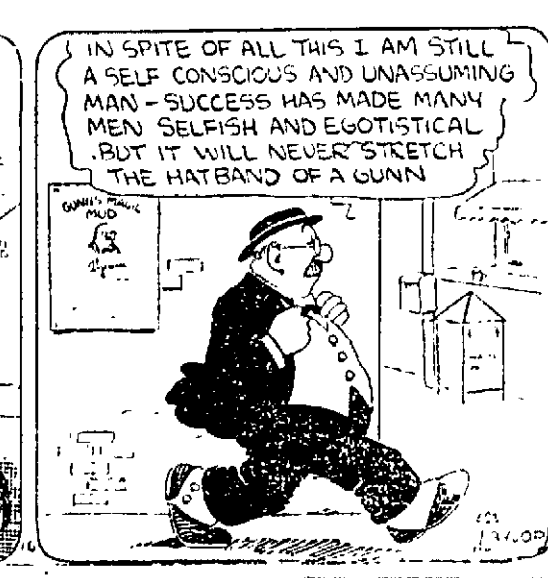

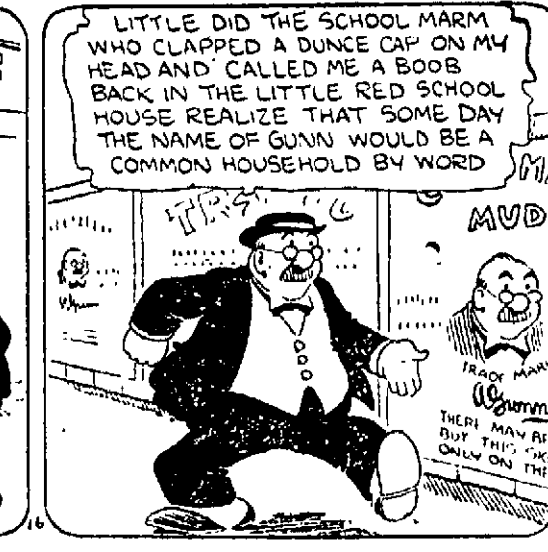

His story constitutes an amazing and melodramatic narrative of a life of crime, beginning when he was 13 years old, with the theft of $23,000 from a Bohemian miser woman in St. Louis, where he was on the streets as a newsboy.

ARRANGE SCHEDULE Superintendent Gould and Coach Hafey are busy arranging the high school football schedule and so far have three games definitely dated.

They are: At Bismarck, October 11. Bismarck here, October 17. At Dickinson, November 1.

The game here on October 17 is a part of the program of the Southwestern district teachers convention.

Two games with Jamestown and a return date with Dickinson probably will be added.

SISTER VERY ILL Miss Helen Holt of Los Angeles, sister of Arthur Holt of this city, is recovering nicely from a serious operation, according to word received by him today. Miss Holt is formerly of Fargo. Her mother Mrs. Anna Holt of that city is with her. Miss Holt is with one of the large movie concerns and has been seen here several times in some of the leading productions.

ROBINSON WINS George Robinson was awarded the prize of $100 in the salesmanship contest held by the Western Auto company which closed with a banquet Saturday evening at the Lewis and Clark hotel at which there were 21 employees of the firm present. E. M. Elder and J. N. Bender were second and third respectively of the six salesmen. Another contest was started today and will be closed December first.

CAFE IS CLOSED The Busy Bee cafe operated by Tom George, George Kapronos, Wm. Kontos and others, was temporarily closed yesterday when creditors petitioned the courts for a receiver. The cafe was quite heavily indebted but it is understood that it is opened for business later.

With ROOSEVELT IN AFRICA

by W. Robert Foran
©, 1924 NEA Service Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Robert Foran, newspaper correspondent, accompanies the Theodore Roosevelt expedition into Africa in 1909. They arrive at Mombasa, the "gateway of British East Africa," and then make the railroad journey to their first camp on the game-crowded Kapiti Plains, 288 miles from the coast. With Colonel Roosevelt, his son, Kermit, and three scientific members of his staff—Major A. Mearns, Edmund Heller and J. Allen Loring.

Incredible good luck comes to the rifles of Colonel Roosevelt and Kermit during the first two weeks of their sojourn. At Nairobi a reception is given in honor of Colonel Roosevelt by Sir Frederick Jackson, the acting governor. While Roosevelt and Kermit are mingling with the guests, Foran goes to look for the three naturalists.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY They were nowhere to be seen in the ball-room, so I wandered out into the beautiful gardens that surround the official residence of the governor.

I knew that they would most probably be searching for birds and small mammals. My diagnosis was quite correct. They were finally discovered enjoying the still night and eagerly hunting for new specimens for their collection. Social functions bored them; but natural history did not. They never allowed any opportunity to capture new species to escape them.

Mearns was standing beneath a big tree trying to catch the dulcet notes of birds who had been awakened by the military band. Heller and Loring were intently engaged upon catching some of the many bats which lighted hither and thither in the moonlit glow of Government House. The regulation evening clothes of civilization made their efforts appear somewhat incongruous, perhaps; but neither scientist appeared to be aware of the fact.

On another night, the Roosevelt expedition accompanied the Government House party to an amateur performance, the "Nairobi Follies," in the Railway Institute in the center of the town.

The program consisted of two parts—the first, a minstrel entertainment with topical songs, all written by local officials of the government, with many humorous allusions to the guest of honor; and the second, a playlet entitled "Bluebeard in East Africa," which had been written by local dramatists. Theodore Roosevelt's hearty laugh was frequently heard well above that of the remainder of the audience, and he appeared particularly to enjoy the many topical songs that related to himself.

Two of the songs are well worth reproducing. The words were written by Benjamin Eastwood, the chief auditor of the Uganda Railway, in conjunction with A. J. Monson, the chief secretary of the government.

The first one to evoke Theodore Roosevelt's laughter, was sung to the tune of "A Gay Tom-tit" from the "Gaiety" and was entitled "Pellis Leo." The words were as follows: A lion lurked in his lonely lair, As African lions do, For he liked to be where he could get a share

Of a nice little buck, with a stroke of luck, In our wonderful nature's zoo. His large inside he nightly fed with zebra or hartebeest instead. "There isn't a scrap of doubt," said he, "This diet's exceedingly good for me. For I grow fat, fat, fatter, "What on earth does it mat, mat, matter."

"If the way that I creep on the beasts in their sleep, "Makes the poor things scat, scat, scatter?"

He hunted game in the moonlight bright, With never a thought of harm; But he got quite a fright, when there hove in sight Teddy armed to the teeth with a knife and sheath, And a rifle beneath his arm.

The Colonel plucked him with a laugh, While Kermit took his photograph. Said he, "These Wall Street boys would cry— "If they knew how near I'd been to die."

"Oh, this country's full, full, bully! "I've enjoyed it full, full, fully, "For it cures the best they can show in the west, "That's so wild and wool, wool, woolly!"

Another topical song that evening had reference to the general comment locally at the well-aired disappointment of some visiting members of the American press at not having been able to accompany the Roosevelts on their hunting trips.

This particular song was entitled "B. E. A. (with apologies to Rudyard Kipling)," and was rendered to the tune of "Mandala." The words of the chorus follow:

Yes he shut out all the press, And he left them there to guess, They raved, and growled, and grumbled, They were left in such a mess.

But that's all passed and done with, For they were not far away; And their news is scattered broad cast Over all the world today.

Still he sent in news one Tuesday— It is nice to be polite— But the New York papers had it On the previous Sunday night.

Oh! it really was a frost, And one finds it to one's cost If one tries to balk the press-men, One is very often lost!

This song was as much enjoyed by the Roosevelts as it was by the newspaper men present.

The Roosevelts, father and son, were the guests of the governor for the first three days while in Nairobi.

and then they moved over to McMillan's town house to join the three naturalists and "R. J." It was a fine stone building standing in extensive and pretty grounds. It was most comfortably furnished, and provided exceptionally roomy quarters for all of the party.

In between the social rounds of gaiety, Colonel Roosevelt worked industriously on his book about his adventures and was able, in the peace of rural Parklands—the growing suburb of Nairobi—to bring up to date all his articles, which task would have been a physical impossibility while on safari.

Frequently during those crowded days, I was invited to lunch or dine with the Roosevelts, and the general topic of conversation was always concerned with the game of East Africa or the immense future possibilities of the country.

One evening, after dinner, Theodore Roosevelt was discussing with Hinde, the commissioner of the Uganda province, the all-important question of immigration to East Africa.

"I firmly believe in the future of this great country for European settlement," asserted Roosevelt, with marked emphasis. "You have remarked that are best suited to the requirements of white men; others that are only suitable for Indians and Africans. It is a matter purely of climatic conditions. In some areas the whites can live and settle permanently, as in our own west; but in others—especially the coastal regions—the climate is such that only natives of India or Africa can hope to succeed."

"The government of East Africa has set apart the highland belt for white settlement ever since they commenced to invite Europeans to settle here, in 1903," said Hinde.

"And that is a very wise policy," exclaimed Roosevelt, as he gave point to his assertion with a thump of his fist on the table. "There can be no possible question about its wisdom. Every possible encouragement should be offered to Europeans to come out here, take up the land and develop it. Non-white people should be encouraged equally, but not to settle where their any possibility for them to come into open rivalry with the Europeans."

"On the afternoon of Sunday, May 30, Colonel Roosevelt took Kermit, Dawson and myself out to visit the Roman Catholic mission at Kikuyu. It is conducted by the French fathers, and is situated some three miles outside of Parklands, suburb of Nairobi.

We spent a very interesting hour or so at the mission, and were taken all over the estate and buildings by the good fathers in charge. There was a convent school attached to the mission, and Colonel Roosevelt appeared to be much interested in the fact that amongst the pupils—who were the children of European settlers—were a few Parsi children. They were the only exception to the rule that it was a school for European children only. The mission also owned a splendid coffee estate—had been the pioneers in coffee-growing in East Africa—the trees of which were most prolific in their yield of berries.

As we drove back to Nairobi in the cool of the evening, I asked Colonel Roosevelt what had been his impressions.

"I must confess to great admiration for the work of all missions in Africa," he said, with conviction in his tones. "There is something very fine in the manner they all quietly and unobtrusively go to work, without pressing their convictions and religion too persistently upon the natives of the country in which they labor."

Like to see them teaching the natives useful, as such, as we have just witnessed. Eventually the natives will realize that these missionaries are wise and good people; and then they will be ready to follow them. Their progress must be slow; but if it is slow, it is also sure. That is the most lasting form of progress."

CHAPTER VI
Pioneers of Two Continents

We had left Nairobi at mid-day on June 2nd by special train for Kijabe, from whence the Roosevelts would start forth on their first prolonged safari into the wilds of Africa. We arrived at our destination just before sunset.

N. D. CONVICT WRITES

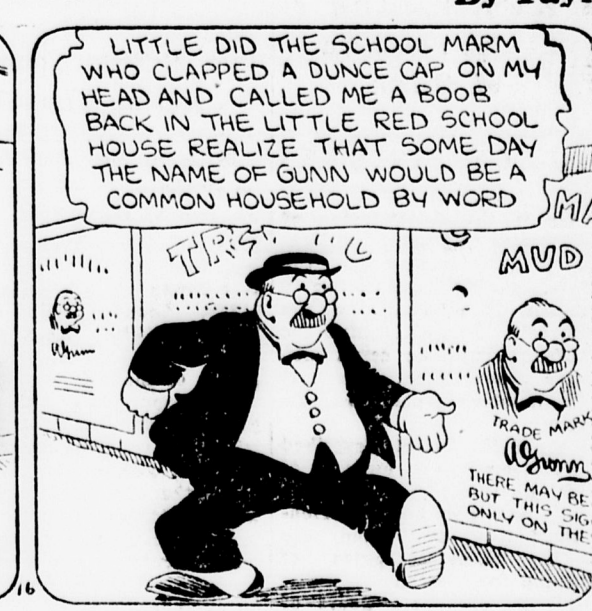

LIFE STORY OF CRIME
Wahpeton, N. D., Sept. 16.—Declaring he wants to warn youths against a life of crime and wrong doing, "Missouri Bob" given 28 months in the state penitentiary for a burglary at Hankinson, turned author while in a jail cell here. Aided by a stenographer, he wrote the story of his life under the heading "Forty Years of Stealing," to be submitted to an eastern magazine for publication in the hope, he said, that it may be a lesson to boys who are taking their first steps on the off trail.

His story constitutes an amazing and melodramatic narrative of a life of crime, beginning when he was 13 years old, with the theft of $23,000 from a Bohemian miser woman in St. Louis, where he was on the streets as a newsboy.

YANKEES TIE THE SENATORS

Win White Washington Loses in Ball Games

Chicago, Sept. 16.—The New York Yankees and Washington Senators were tied for first place in the American League today. New York, which has been playing brilliant ball for several days, was from Chicago 1 to 0, while Washington lost to Detroit by the same score. Both New York and Washington have but 15 games left to play during the season.

Sam Jones pitched great ball for the Yankees in beating the Chicago White Sox, while "Rip" Collins held Washington to four hits as the Tigers were getting nine off. Magridge Van Gilder's good pitching enabled St. Louis to beat Boston, 1 to 3. In the only game played in the National League, Pittsburgh won an uphill fight from Boston in 12 innings, and now is but one and a half games behind Brooklyn, still trailing the Giants.

FRANK CHANCE, FAMOUS BASE BALL MAN, DIES

Los Angeles, Sept. 16.—Frank Chance, manager of the Chicago White Sox, died here last night after a long illness.

For several months Chance has been recuperating in Southern California from a breakdown suffered in Chicago last spring in an attempt to resume active management of the White Sox. He was at his apartment here early tonight when another attack caused his removal to the Good Samaritan hospital, where he died within a half hour.

MARKET NEWS

WHEAT FALLS AT OPENING

Canadian Crop Estimate Proves Bearish

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Wheat prices declined to a material extent today as a result of Canadian crop estimates which, contrary to predictions, proved to be bearish instead of bullish. Opening prices, which ranged from 4c to 14c lower, with December $1.25 1/2 to $1.35 1/2 and May $1.20 1/2 to $1.30 1/2, were followed by a slight further setback and then by an upturn to near yesterday's finish.

Subsequently the market again weakened. Demand became slack when buyers came over to realize profits. The close was unsettled, 1/2c to 1c lower, December $1.25 1/2 to 1c and May $1.40 1/2 to 1c.

Moberg, the "Mighty Five" of the gang went to Aberdeen and stole the Slater automobile and started north. They went to Minot, North Dakota, and bought dynamite, taking it back to the shack and boiling out the glycerine. Berg and Ryan drove to Jamestown, North Dakota, while Mahowick followed on a train. They left the roadster of Berg in a garage and stole a Chevrolet on the street and started for Greenway. This Chevrolet may have been that of Harry Clough of Bismarck. It was abandoned near Jamestown and recovered. When they robbed the Greenway bank they got but little money.

Disgusted with their luck, they went north to Hazelton, North Dakota. They ran across former companions riding in a new Cadillac automobile. They parted at Hazelton. Three went to Jamestown, leaving the stolen car a short distance from town (where Clough's car was found) and going to a garage and getting Berg's car. Next they drove to Minot.

The story then says five of the gang, after the parting at Hazelton, went to Kenmare, North Dakota. Here they were arrested on burglary charges, pleaded guilty, received five-year sentences, were sent to Rugby, North Dakota, and broke jail while awaiting a transportation officer to take them to the North Dakota prison.

mitted to the people of the state at the next general election, and let them decide what course shall be pursued in the matter.

"But when we consider the results up to date, I don't believe that there is any hue and cry for any expansion at present of the state industrial program. Although that is what the league platform would have us believe.

"When we can see any reasonable hope that the bond issues which have already been made to finance the state industries can be paid off by some other method than taxation, then it will be time enough to talk of expansion of the present state industrial system," said Mr. Hulvorson.

INTOXICATION DON'T RELIEVE ON CONTRACT

A person will not be relieved from a contract, on the grounds of intoxication alone, "unless it is shown that the drunkenness was so excessive that he was utterly deprived of his reason and understanding and was altogether incapable of knowing the effect of what he was doing," the supreme court held in handing down a decision in the case of Hans J. Hauge against Martin E. Bye and L. E. Olson, involving promissory notes. The case, appealed from Grand Forks county, was affirmed.

Hauge, according to the history of the case given in the opinion, had loaned the firm of Bye and Olson of Grafton $3,000, of which $277.00 only was paid. M. E. Bye, for the defense, alleged that full settlement had been made in the substitution of two notes for $3,395.00, including interest, accepted by Hauge. The notes were given individually by M. E. Bye whereas the first note was by the firm of Bye and Olson. The latter denied responsibility. The plaintiff Hauge, according to the statement of the court opinion, declared he was intoxicated at the time of the alleged note transaction and did not recollect anything that occurred.

SECTION HAND SUES BOSS: ASKS $1,000 FOR ASSAULT

Minot, N. D., Sept. 16.—Damages of $1,000 are sought in a civil action filed in the Ward county district by Ebro Custovich of Velva against Charles Bosch, also of Velva, in which the plaintiff alleges that he was attacked and beaten by the defendant, without justifiable cause. Custovich is a section employee of the Soo railroad at Velva and Bosch is the section foreman. Custovich asks $25 for physician fees, $50 for actual damages for inability to properly perform manual labor and $925 as exemplary damages.

ADHERENCE TO CONSTITUTION IS ADVOCATED

Benton Baker, Speaking at Kiwanis Club Luncheon Tells of Origin

DUTIES OF CITIZENS

Adherence to the Constitution of the United States was urged by Benton Baker in an address before the Kiwanis club at the regular weekly luncheon held Monday at the McKenzie hotel. Judge Sveinbjorn Johnson of the supreme court also briefly gave observations as a part of the "Constitution Week" program of the club.

Mr. Baker, at the outset, described the constitutional convention of 1787 which was made up of practical men who had experienced persecution, tyranny and oppression, the bitter struggles of pioneer people for existence and the freedom of the great out doors of natural America; men who were intent upon having a permanent foundation for a balanced government.

Profit From History

These men, he said, profiting from their experiences and lessons of history, set about the construction of a system of checks and balances. On this foundation of government, the thirteen original colonies expanded to the greatest nation on earth, Mr. Baker said.

"We have grown accustomed in America to thinking of our written constitutions as giving as fixed points by which we can safely steer," he said. "Believing that our constitutional form of government is founded in wisdom and based on righteousness we have taken its permanence more or less for granted and have fancied ourselves immune from that appetite for organic change which I have declared to be one of the worst diseases that afflict a people. Yet when we consider the comparative ease with which the last four amendments to the federal constitution were adopted and the far reaching changes they have wrought in our national life, we are compelled to ask ourselves how far this confidence is justified. In the light of current history can we be mistaken in thinking that here two forces are stirring which must make the organic law of the future a different thing from the organic law of today."

"Let me remind you," he said, "that the last Congress, following in this respect the example of those which immediately preceded it, produced no less than 109 bills and joint resolutions proposing to amend the constitution. The following is true, in the wake of no less than 2,954 others which had been introduced since the first Congress began its sitting, but exceeded in number those of any other Congress save the 36th, which met when men were busy devising plans to avert the oncoming Civil War. No doubt many of these proposals were trial balloons, and the total loses something of its portent when duplications are considered. But any fair estimate of the public temper must include all the amendments sponsored by unofficial groups and organizations that have not found as yet a congressional godfather."

Duties of Citizens

The necessity for citizens taking an active part in governmental affairs was urged by Mr. Baker.

"William Penn once quaintly said: Governments, like clocks, go from the motion men give them; and as governments are made and moved by men, so by them they are ruined too. Wherefore governments cannot depend upon men but men upon governments."

"After being drafted to speak here today I went to a very old and a very good friend who was born, by the way, in a foreign land, and asked him how he would like to have the topic of the day presented. He said that he came to America when he was a boy and had lived here ever since; that he early took an interest in politics; clean politics, he said, and I believe him. He said that he didn't know of any other country that he liked so well but that his feelings were nearly approached disgust whenever he thought of that element of our citizenry who bear the label of 100 percent American but maintain an attitude of indifference and smug complacency in matters pertaining to politics. Language is not strong enough to express this gentleman's contempt for that element of aloof and self-esteem individuals who abhor the dirt and contamination of American politics."

"It is well known that there are many so-called respectable citizens of our community who do lip-service to the flag, say much of slanders and bolsheviki and glory in parades who will not stand for election to office or participate in the correction of the abuses and evils of our election machinery; will not design to attend political conventions or to assist in conducting honest elections, in short ignore their primary obligations as citizens. Are such the really worthy citizens of the republic?"

"Let me quote from an address of Judge Martin J. Wade delivered last week in Minneapolis: Do we have any notion that this country can be run by 50 percent of the voters when the 50 percent who went to the polls in the 1920 election included many if not most of those whom we would exclude from voting if it were in our power?"

"Every hack driver, demagogue and ward heeler—those who went to the polls not to tell the nation what they personally felt about it, but for some other reason—were there, you may be sure, in that 50 percent army."

SIX KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Two British Naval Officers Among Those Killed

St. Johns, Newfoundland, Sept. 16.—(By the A. P.)—Six men were killed, two of them British naval officers and two others world war heroes, when an automobile crashed into a crowd on the Topsail road early today. Leonard Reid, son of the late Sir William Reid, was arrested on a charge of manslaughter as the driver of the car.

The group was gathered about a bus, and four had entered the vehicle when the seven-passenger car driven by Reid, with eight passengers, came down the road and into the crowd with little warning.

After plunging into the group, the car swerved, overturned and plunged down an embankment. There was no explanation today of the cause of the accident, Reid being too unnerfed, it was said, to make any statement.

FIND BODY OF GIRL, 15, SLAIN

Case Recalls Killing of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall

New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 16.—(By the A. P.)—Detectives investigating the killing of 15-year-old Elizabeth Johnson of Kingston, whose body was discovered under scrub brush by the shore at Carnegie Lake near Princeton, Sunday, have found many similarities between the new crime and that surrounding the death of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and his choir leader, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, whose bodies were found side by side in a field on the Phillips farm two years ago today. The absence of tangible clues and the uncertainty as to whether the girl had been killed where she lay or elsewhere served to recall the earlier crime. Her body was laid carefully on a newspaper, recalling the manner in which the bodies of Mr. Hall and Mrs. Mills were found. A circumstance which caused investigators to suspect that someone with a knowledge of undertaking had been present at the killing.

The girl was slain with a small calibre revolver pressed close to her temple, according to detectives. Joseph A. Johnson, the girl's father, has told detectives of a man whom he suspects committed the crime to avenge himself of a fancied wrong.

The father said he had thought his daughter ran away to seek work, as she was restless during the summer school vacation and had expressed a wish to earn her living.

FARGO HOLDS 2 "BAD MEN"

May Be Taken to Kansas to Serve Terms

Fargo, Sept. 16.—Information that the two men caught in Fargo Sunday afternoon and charged with robbing the Farmers Mercantile Company at Christine of more than $800 worth of merchandise are wanted for jail-breaking and automobile stealing in Atchison, Kansas, was received today by the Cass county sheriff's office from C. E. Monger, sheriff at Atchison.

The men, traveling under various aliases, who gave their names here as Tom Cox and Richard Brooks, are known as Walter Corning, 22, and Tom Golsby, 45, to Kansas authorities. Four men broke jail with Corning, a wire from sheriff Monger states.

"Hold guards over men, very bad men, will kill to escape," was the word received from Sheriff Monger. He said he would come to Fargo at once. Because they are faced with a longer sentence in Kansas than they are likely to receive for their alleged offense in North Dakota, the men probably will be turned over to the Kansas officials.

ROAD SERVICE IS PLANNED

Highway Commission Organizes New Bureau

With the moving of the state Highway Commission to its new quarters in the Capitol, the department is now prepared to render in addition to its work of highway construction and maintenance, a service to motorists. This service will include the free provision of official road maps, official road condition services, and the answers to queries concerning the state highway laws and general information relative to highways in the state.

Previous to the present time the Commission has been limited, by its small floor space, to limit itself to the necessary construction and maintenance work.

The service bureau, while it is expected to be a great help to motorists throughout the state, will also serve to bring the residents of the state into closer contact with the work of the state Highway Commission through the issuing of regular bulletins, which will be republished by newspapers, telling of the various accomplishments of the department.

It is to be expected that the majority of motorists in the state will take advantage of the Commission's new service to have their questions about highways; their buildings, maintenance, and use, answered.

Free gravel tests for farmers who have gravel pits on their land will also be made by the department if a sample of the gravel is sent to the Commission's office in Bismarck accompanied by a letter locating the pit and giving the owners name.

"We believe," said Chief Engineer Black, of the Commission, "that the Highway Commission has a greater duty to the residents of the state than the mere building and upkeep of highways. It should do these two things, and do them well, but it should also serve as a statewide service bureau. It should prepare itself to render assistance to every person in the state; and it should keep these people informed as to what it is doing. It is for these reasons that we have instituted our service department."

WARN HUNTERS NOT TO DESTROY SIGNS ON ROADS

With the opening of hunting season today, state Highway Commission patrolmen, and county law enforcement officers are warned by the Highway Commission to pay particular attention to the destruction of the state's official "Indian Head" road markers, and to report violators of the state law making the destruction or defacing of such markers a misdemeanor.

"The road markers are expected to suffer during hunting season," says the warning, "but this year, because of the active co-operation between

The "Indian Head" markers are one of the best roadside improvements made on North Dakota highways during the past few, in the opinion of many motorists years, and to destroy them is to damage North Dakota's good roads reputation.

The North Dakota Automobile Association, the state's largest motorist's association, recently offered a reward of $50 for the arrest and conviction of anyone destroying state markers, and this, coupled with the prospects of prosecution upon a misdemeanor charge is believed to be
